ROCKEFELLER KILLS SALOON.

Owner Is Forced to Sell Out Because the Oil King Gets Possession Balance of a Village.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., June 11.—(Special.)—John Melin, who owns a little hotel adjoining the country estate of John D. Rockefeller at Tarrytown, has advertised his saloon for sale. It is believed that on account of Mr. Rockefeller buying up the little village where the saloon is located, his business has been ruined.

Several years ago Mr. Rockefeler endeavored to buy the saloon, as he did not want liquors sold in the vicinity of his place, and Mr. Melin would not part with his hotel. Now Mr. Rockefeller is going to wipe out the village of Briggsville and transform it into an artificial lake and the Melin inn will be the only place left.

CONNELLSVILLE MAN IS DROWNED FROM A CANOE

CONNELLSVILLE PA., June 11.—While canoeing from Ohio Pyle to Connellsville, today, Lester Ankeny, aged 22, of Connellsville, was drowned and his companion, Altha Walters of Dunbar, Pa., was marooned upon a small rock in the midst of the Ohio Pyle rapids for more than four hours, being rescued only after the rising river had reached above his waist. The two men were forcing their canoe through the rapids just below the Ohio Pyle falls, when the boat struck a rock and overturned, throwing them both into the water.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT RETURNS TO WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, June 11.—President Roosevelt and party returned to Washington from Virginia over the Southern Railway late tonight. He proceeded at once to the White House.

ENVOYS' POWERS ARE LIMITED

Russia's Representatives Can Only Receive and Transmit Terms.

WORLD WANTS PEACE

German Emperor May Have Suggested the Action Taken by President Roosevelt.

REPORTED DEMANDS OF JAPAN

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 11.—Russia is waiting for Japan to fix the time and place when and where the Japanese terms will be placed in the hands of Russia's representatives. The foreign office expects that the delay will be brief. The government would prefer that Paris should be the scene of the initial step, but it is explained that neither the place nor the personality of the Russian representative matters greatly.

Russia's representatives will not be plenipotentiary with full power to negotiate. Their duty will practically be confined to the reception and transmission to their government of the Japanese terms for decision as to whether they afford a basis for actual peace negotiations. They will be clothed with power to effect an agreement for the suspension of hostilities, which suspension will probably be for a very limited period, during which Russia must decide the momentous question of peace or a prolongation of the war.

During this temporary armistice both countries probably will be free to continue the movement of troops and munitions of war within prescribed limits, although nothing definite on this point will be known until the meeting takes place.

Probable Appointees.

If Russia finds the terms for a basis on which negotiations can proceed, regular plenipotentaries will be appointed, the number being decided by the belligerents themselves, and then it is not impossible that the negotiations might be transferred to Manchuria, as President Roosevelt is believed to have suggested.

It is stated at the foreign office that the question of plenipotentaries has not been officially considered, but it is regarded as almost certain that Baron Rosen, the ambassador to the United States, on account of his long and intimate acquaintance with far eastern affairs, besides his familiarity with Japan, will be selected.

George De Staal, who preceded Count Benkendorff as Russian ambassador to London, and who was president of the peace conference at The Hague in 1899, might be another, although his advanced age and the fact that he has been for some years out of touch with active diplomacy might militate against him. The number of plenipotentaries would be a matter of mutual agreement, although Russian precedent leans to two.

President Roosevelt also might be of service in arranging these preliminaries, but Russia would be disposed to respect his wish to settle all questions after the first meeting directly with Japan.

President to Step Aside.

While proffering all the aid in his power it is well understood here the president, having served to bring the representatives of the warring countries face to face, believes it would be to the best interests of all concerned that he step aside. The United States, it is recognized here, desires to keep all the powers out of temptation when the spoils of war come to be divided and this position is considered to be the logical sequence of the pledges secured by Secretary Hay at the opening of the conflict.

The German emperor not only heartily approves the president's course, but may have had a share in it, as he did in the case of Secretary Hay's note to the powers, of which he was the actual inspiration. Secretary Hay's action has been indorsed by practically all the European powers, notably France, Great Britain and Italy and the fact that both belligerents now understand the solidarity of the powers in the view that the time has come to end the lamentable struggle, imposes a moral pressure upon both which will compel them to come to terms or face the disapprobation of the civilized world.

A well defined report was current everywhere today, although the Associated Press could not trace its source, that Russia had already practically obtained Japan's conditions, and that they proved so surprisingly moderate that Russia certainly would accept them as a basis for negotiations.

Speculation on Terms.

A dispatch sent from here to the Paris Eclair gives the alleged detailed conditions of both sides, the Japanese conditions numbering 11 and the Russian 10. These are practically the same as former speculative conditions, namely, an indemnity of $650,000,000, a Japanese protectorate over Manchuria and Korea, the cession of Port Arthur and part of the trans-Manchurian railroad to Japan, forfeiture of the interned warships, the withdrawal of Russian warships from the far east for a period of 25 years and the occupation of Vladivostok until these conditions are fulfilled. The Russian conditions, according to the dispatch, reject the question of an indemnity and give a qualified acceptance of the other terms.

Too much credit for President Roosevelt's diplomatic triumph cannot be bestowed on Ambassador Meyer, who handled the Russian end with consummate skill, keeping his own counsel even against the speals of his colleagues in the diplomatic corps and going straight to the throne with the president's message, thus avoiding the formalities, delays and possible complications of the regular bureaucratic channels.

President Roosevelt, through Ambassador Meyer, has sent a personal message of thanks to Emperor Nicholas for the reception of his appeal.

In diplomatic circles here it is felt that

SEWERS CLOG; FLOOD CELLARS

Peter Hermes Loses Barrels of Ice Cream and Much Sleep.

MANY FIRMS VICTIMS

Five Fire Engines Are Found Necessary to Check the Rising Water.

MIXUP IN THE ADMINISTRATION

The six-foot sewer under Old avenue, now Diamond street, and Shingiss street, became clogged during the heavy rainstorms yesterday morning and flooded the cellars of a score of business houses, causing over $10,000 damage. Five fire engines worked 12 hours to pump out the water. Councilman Peter Hermes of the Sixth ward is the heaviest loser, and an ice cream famine in some quarters is likely to be the result. Over 3,000 gallons of frozen milk were lost.

The principal sufferers from the broken sewer follow:

OHIO & PITTSBURGH MILK COMPANY, Peter Hermes, principal owner. Boyd street and Old avenue; milk, produce and machinery damaged.

CONSOLIDATED ICE COMPANY, in the Hermes building; machinery damaged.

WILLIAM E. HAYS, saloonkeeper, Old avenue and Tunnel street; stock of liquors damaged.

KEYSTONE PICTURE FRAME COMPANY, Old avenue and Shingiss street; hard woods and finished stock.

J. & J. B. MILHOLLAND, Boyd street; machinery and tools.

ARONSON REALTY COMPANY, Fifth and Old avenues; advertising posters.

H. FRISHMANN & CO., 720 Fifth avenue, stock of salt, tobacco and woodenware.

ENTERPRISE LEATHER COMPANY, 721 Fifth avenue; stock of leather findings.

J. M. FERGUSON, 727 Fifth avenue; stock of notions.

C. H. ADELMAN, 719 Fifth avenue; packing materials.

H. L. GOLDSTEIN, 717 Fifth avenue; stock of notions.

L. CARPASS, 717 Fifth avenue; packing materials and stock.

Hurried Appeal for Aid.

The damage to the flooded cellars and the disturbance to the equilibrium of the councilman's temper, were mild in comparison with the disturbed state of affairs that has been caused between the departments of public safety and public works in the municipal administration. Last week Director Bigelow raised a pretty how-d'ye-do over Director Moore's enforced closing of Fifth avenue in front of the ruined walls of the Avenue theater. Director Bigelow sent E. G. Nicewaner, his superintendent of the bureau of highways and sewers, to inspect the theater walls. He reported them safe, while Engineer Emil Swensson declared them dangerous.

Relations became strained between the two departments, and the mayor stood up for Director Moore. On Tuesday night the Shingiss street sewer caved in, and yesterday morning's rain did the rest. Councilman Hermes got up in his pajamas and found 12 feet of water in his cellar, his ice plant damaged, his electric plant buried in mud and thousands of gallons of ice cream ruined. Then straightway the department of public works called on the department of public safety to send fire engines to pump out Hermes and his neighbors.

Kept Five Fire Engines Busy.

The water commenced to back up at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The rain continued unabated and two engines which had been called out through a regular fire alarm call were unable to meet the emergency. The rain came down with increased fury and the water filled the entire square from Forbes street up Old avenue to Fifth avenue, and cellars were flooded as far as Washington street. During the forenoon three additional engines were called into play. They worked until dark before the cellars were emptied.

Hermes said he could make little estimate of his damage until he could examine his machinery, but he feared it would reach over $5,000. The cellar of William E. Hays, a saloonkeeper at Fifth avenue and Tunnel street, was deluged and the Keystone Picture Company is a heavy loser. H. Frishmann & Co., 720 Fifth avenue, wholesale grocers, report damages aggregating $1,000.

Supt. Nicewaner personally directed the repairing of the sewer. Mayor Hays, who lives with Councilman Hermes in the residence over the ice cream factory, gave his attention to assisting the firemen. Councilman Hermes expressed his opinions with volksfest emphasis, but the mayor was not outspoken in his criticism. Said Supt. Nicewaner:

"This is one of the biggest sewers in the city and is quite old. When it caved in last week I ordered a gang of men at once to repair the damage. It has been a tedious job and today's heavy rains soon caused it to become clogged. It's all a very unfortunate circumstance and a week will be required to put it in proper shape."

GREAT GIFT TO PRINCETON.

Heirs of Mrs. Winthrop Have Reached Agreement on Amount for Theological Seminary.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 11.—The heirs of Mrs. Mary J. Winthrop's estate have finally come to an agreement by which Princeton Theological seminary will receive $1,750,000. This more than doubles the present endowment of $1,525,357, exclusive of buildings and real estate to the amount of $526,150.

A committee of the trustees, directors and faculty has been appointed to discuss methods of spending the large amount to the best interests of the seminary.

MAKE NEW FIGHT FOR A RATE LAW

Contest of the Shippers' Association of Cincinnati Has Far-Reaching Effect.

AFFECTS ATLANTIC SEABOARD

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.

Should the Receivers and Shippers' association of Cincinnati succeed in getting federal action against the group of southern railroads, against which it has petitioned the president, it is accepted by all concerned that the case will be much more important and far-reaching than that of the Northern Securities Company.

Attorney General Moody spent a part of today in consideration of the prayer of the petitioners. He said tonight that the case had not been given sufficient consideration yet to warrant any prediction as to whether or not the government would proceed to investigate by special counsel.

The railroad rate question, as it is now pending in congress and the president's confidence for rate-fixing power for the commission, are directly involved in this case. It is reported and not denied that the Receivers and Shippers association has begun this contest very largely for the purpose of retaliation upon Samuel Spencer, president of the Southern Railway, and officials of the Atlantic Coast Line, who have been very prominent in Washington in the last few months opposing the Esch-Townsend bill or any other measure like it. One of the representatives of the petitioners is reported to have made the remark yesterday that if these railway men are put on the defensive in the matter of violating the Sherman anti-trust law, they will have less time and energy for fighting a rate bill.

Eastern seaboard cities are also much concerned in the case because it is based on what the petitioners call discrimination in their favor. The West already has a differential against Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. They contend that this should be greater and on this complaint the petition for government action against the Southern combination is based.

GOSSIP CAUSES ARREST.

Man Charged With Killing His Baby Because It Was Not a Boy Will Be Released.

NEW YORK, June 11.—(Special.)—Frank Krekick, who was arrested Friday on a charge of having killed his baby because it had not been born a boy, as he had hoped, and held without bail to await the coroner will probably be released tomorrow.

Coroner Scholer's investigation showed that the story as told by the alleged witnesses had no foundation in fact, and that the child had died of natural causes. The story and the subsequent arrest of Krekick had their origin in the gossip of women.

FEELS HAPPY IN HEAVEN AND SO NEAR THE STARS

Man Reputed to Be a Wealthy Pittsburgh Attorney, Has Strange Hallucination in Denver. Thinks He Is Dead.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

DENVER, June 11.—James P. Smith, a wealthy Pittsburgh attorney and a friend of Lawrence C. Phipps, became insane yesterday and, taking off all his clothing, began roaming around and throwing rocks at windows. He was captured late last night and taken to the county hospital. It is feared that he will not recover his reason.

Smith came to Denver six weeks ago and bought a home at 502 Tennessee street, Mont Clair. He had been drinking, it is said, and this is believed to have been the direct cause of the attack. Yesterday afternoon he was noticed running around his house, taking off clothing and scattering it over the ground. When entirely nude, he ran to the house of Green Brown and began throwing sticks through the windows. Finally he tired of this and ran away.

Capt. Carter dispatched Patrolman Ingersoll to find and capture Smith. Ingersoll took with him Fred Underwood, a neighbor, and after a search they found Smith. He was nude and lying, almost chilled to death, in an open ditch. He lay on his back, looking at the stars, and was talking about how happy he was now he was dead and in heaven, so near the stars.

When Ingersoll approached, Smith asked him if he was the angel Gabriel. Ingersoll humored him by telling him that he was, and Smith agreed to go with him. His teeth chattered terribly, and soon he asked for his white robe, so that he would be warmer. Smith was dressed and brought into the city. His feet were terribly bruised and torn and full of cactus thorns, and he could not walk. The men had to carry him to the car line and take him to the surgeon's office.

Mrs. Smith and her child found refuge in the home of Lawrence C. Phipps. The Smiths are said to be well known in Pittsburgh's best society.

The Pittsburgh directory and blue book do not give the name of James P. Smith, either in the legal or any other profession. All the Pittsburgh attorneys named, reputed wealthy, were accounted for last night, were not in Denver and were sane.

WILL NOT RECOGNIZE NORWAY REVOLUTION

Premier of Sweden Says His Government and Others Will Ignore Independence.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

STOCKHOLM, June 11.—Premier Ramstedt, in an interview, says the Swedish government will refuse to recognize the revolution in Norway, and will submit to the riksdag motions conformable to this standpoint.

The premier thinks that the riksdag will adopt this view and is convinced that no foreign power will recognize Norway as an independent country against the will of Sweden.

CONSULAR AGENT MURDERED AND HIS WIFE WOUNDED

TANGIER, June 11.—(Copyright Cable.)—Daniel Madden, a British subject, who acted as consular agent for Austria-Hungary and for Denmark at Mazadan, has been murdered in his residence by a band of Moors. Robbery was the object of the crime. While endeavoring to protect her husband, Mrs. Madden was wounded by a shot from a revolver.

GAMBLING HOUSE RAID PART OF THE EVIDENCE

County Officials Propose to Show That Supt. Wallace Was Lax in His Police Duties.

When Attorneys John C. Haymaker and John Marron on Friday preferred charges before Public Safety Director Moore against Police Superintendent Wallace in connection with the latter's alleged abuse of Ames A. Dachroth, they told the director they had evidence against the superintendent to prove he was neglecting his police duties. In line with this, county detectives, under instructions from the district attorney, on Saturday night raided a gambling house in Station street, East End, and confiscated over $1,000 worth of gambling devices.

At the hearing of Wallace this afternoon it will be alleged that he knew the gambling house was being operated, but made no attempt to close it. Wallace could not be found yesterday to deny his alleged knowledge of the place.

Superintendent Wallace recently removed Inspector Boyle from the East End district on the ground that he did not have sufficient police experience to manage a district of that size, and because burglars were operating there without detection.

Inspector McEvoy succeeded Boyle and the number of reported burglaries have been fewer. The gambling house raided Saturday night is, however, but a short distance from McEvoy's headquarters, and its existence has been generally known to the citizens. The county officials, it is understood, will assert that Boyle was removed because he did not possess sufficient diplomacy to convince complainants that there was no open gambling in the East End.

KNOX IN PITTSBURGH.

With Friends for a Couple of Days, but His Mission Not a Political One.

Senator P. C. Knox left for Washington last night after spending a couple of days in Pittsburgh. He was here on private business and to visit his daughter. Mr. Knox was not in conference with any of the politicians.

Prisoner Had Much Gold.

NAPLES, June 11.—(Special Cable.)—On landing here as a passenger from New York an Italian emigrant named Giacomo Caspoli was arrested on a charge of having committed a robbery in Philadelphia. The man was apprehended on indications given by Americans. Two gold ingots valued at 60,000 lire were found concealed in his luggage.

Bigelow Now a Convict.

LEAVENWORTH, KAS., June 11.—Frank G. Bigelow, formerly president of the First National bank of Milwaukee, arrived at Fort Leavenworth penitentiary tonight. John Speciale, a counterfeiter, was brought along as a fellow prisoner with Bigelow.

FASTEST TRAINS PASS PITTSBURGH

Make Up Lost Time and Speed Nearly 103 Miles an Hour.

MAY BEAT THEIR SCHEDULE

The two fastest railroad trains in the world passed through Pittsburg last night when the Pennsylvania Specials, Nos. 28 and 29, rushed from Chicago to the sea and from the sea to Chicago, giving every promise of breaking the record-destroying 18-hour schedule. At midnight, when the great runs were half completed, the officials declared that the running time between New York and Chicago could be cut down to 17 hours for regular trains. At times the speed of the eastbound special reached 103 miles an hour.

The fast-flying train astounded even old railroad men in its marvelous development of speed. Engineer Holmes on the Ft. Wayne division, left Chicago with Special No. 28 at 3:05 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and scarcely before he had crossed the Indiana state line he was making miles in 48 seconds. A few minutes later he struck a straight stretch of track and reeled off a mile in 38 seconds, as timed by the stop watches in the hands of General Passenger Agent Samuel Moody and District Passenger Agent George G. Beltzhoover.

And He Did Better.

"He'll beat the world if he does better than that," was the comment made by the passengers gathered on the observation platform.

"He will do better than that," said Col. Moody. Everybody laughed. Then Mr. Beltzhoover dropped his timepiece.

"A mile in 38 seconds flat!" he shouted. "Holmes, old boy, you'll never beat that."

Holmes did not beat his record, but he equaled it several times, and everybody was doubly amazed. Crowds stood out along the track and cheered the daredevil flyer.

At Crestline engines were changed and the train left on time, but at Alliance five minutes were lost in shunting off the dining car. There was some anxiety as Col. Moody thought of the curves, and he urged the crew to get to work.

Where the Flyers Passed.

At Fen Avon everybody gathered on the observation platform again. The whistles shrieked, there was a wild sheet of light and a roar. They had passed No. 29, westbound, and reeled into the Pittsburgh Union station 10 minutes ahead of time, having made up 15 minutes in a run of 83 miles.

Special No. 29, which came from New York and ran as the exact counterpart of No. 28, made a fine run to Harrisburg. On the middle division time was lost and the train left Altoona eight minutes late. It was a dash of 116 miles to Pittsburgh. Four minutes had been gained when the flyer reached Gallitzin, and at Stewart station all the time was gained. The train reached Pittsburgh with time to spare.

There was a good-sized crowd at the Union station to greet both trains and the officials and crews were congratulated on their splendid time. A special party of newspapermen as guests of the railroad company, boarded the train, and S. W. Dobson, assistant road foreman of engines, who had charge of the train to New York, was bent on exceeding the splendid record made on the Ft. Wayne division, if possible.

Locomotives of Latest Type.

In the cab of engine No. 2,629 was Engineer A. M. Courson. All the locomotives were of the latest Atlantic type, and were in charge of old and experienced crews.

According to a telegram received from Chicago, there were no ceremonies connected with the starting of "The Pennsylvania Special" from its western terminus on its first trip. Promptly at 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon the new flyer pulled out from Chicago. The only officials of the road who were on board were Col. Samuel Moody of Pittsburgh, general passenger agent, and District Passenger Agent Beltzhoover.

So many persons made application for passage on the new train that for several hours before the scheduled time to start all the available room in the train had been disposed of.

At Fort Wayne the train was four minutes ahead of schedule time. The fastest mile was covered in 40 seconds.

Japanese Surround Army of Linevitch.

LONDON, June 12.—According to the Tokyo correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, General Linevitch is in a hopeless position. He is virtually surrounded and the correspondent says the Japanese army will earn equal glory with the Japanese navy if the campaign continues.

FRENCH PRAISE OUR PRESIDENT

AUSTRIANS LIKE HIS ACTION

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

PARIS, June 11.—President Roosevelt's success in opening a way for peace negotiations between Russia and Japan, is the absorbing theme here, and France has forgotten her own troubles with Germany over Morocco to join in enthusiastic approval of the American initiative. Portraits of President Roosevelt, Ambassador Meyer, Minister Takahira and Ambassador Cassini, appear in all the journals, with pictures of the White House as the scene of the historic origin of the peace movement. Without exception comment on President Roosevelt's action is favorable, with the expression of a slight sense of disappointment that France, as the ally of Russia, has not taken a more prominent part in effecting the preliminaries.

Baron Rosen, the new Russian ambassador to the United States, who arrived here last night on his way to Washington, and whose name is mentioned as the probable Russian peace plenipotentiary, was seen today and said: "I have arranged to sail for the United States June 28, on the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse with my family. In the meantime I am renewing acquaintances here. I observe in the press the use of my name as the probable peace plenipotentiary, but that is wholly without my authority or knowledge."

Praise from a Statesman.

Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, former president of the parliamentary group in the chamber of deputies, favoring international arbitration, gave the Associated Press an authorized interview in which he severely arraigns the action of the European powers and applauds President Roosevelt's initiative. The baron had just received a letter from Premier Rouvier politely declining to take the initiative for peace. The baron said:

"The United States has again given hesitating Europe a wholesome example. All Europe ardently desired peace, yet allowed the war to go on without comprehending what immense service it could render the belligerents in taking the initiative for peace, which neither of them could be the first to take.

"President Roosevelt has already given four such striking lessons to Europe: First, in having brought before the arbitration tribunal at The Hague the question between Mexico and the United States over the Pius fund claims, while Europe was scoffing at the peace court which it had created; second, in obliging Europe to settle pacifically the Venezuelan affair; third, in proposing a second peace conference at The Hague, to complete the work of the first; and, fourth, in now intervening to put to an end the negotiations in the far east.

Gains at Europe's Expense.

"The conclusion of this is plain. All that the European governments have morally lost through their timidity the government of the United States has gained. It is another good example for Europe of America's energy in safeguarding the most sacred rights of humanity. May American enterprise continue to stimulate Europe, breaking our old traditions of inertia and egotism. It is from the west that the world today is receiving light. Now that President Roosevelt has taken the necessary initiative, it is certain to be sincerely seconded by all the governments of Europe."

VIENNA, June 11.—President Roosevelt's energetic and successful efforts to bring about peace negotiations have attracted to him and to the United States almost the undivided attention of the people of Austria and Hungary and have made a most lasting impression on all classes.

The press of Vienna gives President Roosevelt unstinted praise for his initiative in bringing peace negotiations to their present status and is ready to give him full credit for probably putting an end to the fearful slaughter of the last 16 months. He is declared to have rendered an immeasurable and lasting service to humanity and civilization.

Burglars in McKees Rocks.

Charles Brunner was taken to the county jail at midnight Saturday on a charge of burglary, made by W. W. Cotter before C. K. Barnheart, justice of the peace of McKees Rocks. The constable who took him there said a man was detected in a store when about to blow open a safe. He escaped from the police, but Brunner was arrested on suspicion of being the burglar's accomplice.

The Death Roll.

Miss Martha Grayson.

After a life of 80 years, spent in the house in which she was born, Miss Martha Grayson, a member of one of Pennsylvania's oldest families, died yesterday morning at her home in Washington, Pa. Born in 1825, her death came from the infirmities of her advanced age. Miss Grayson was the daughter of the late Hon. John Grayson, Sr., who removed from Baltimore to Washington in the early part of the last century. He was an officer in the war of 1812, and at the close was offered by the president the command of Fort McHenry. He declined the detail, preferring to lead a quiet life. Miss Grayson inherited from her father marked literary ability and was a woman of great culture and refinement. She was one of the early graduates of the Washington seminary, of which her father was one of the founders. She was identified with the history of Washington and for years was an important factor in its religious and literary life. Miss Grayson was the last member of her immediate family, her last brother, the late Dr. Grayson of Washington, having preceded her in death. Her only surviving relatives are the children of her two brothers, John Grayson, Jr., of Pittsburgh, and Thomas W. Grayson of Meadville, Pa.

Obituary Notes.

PEACE REPLIES MAY COME TODAY

President Roosevelt Is Satisfied With the Progess in the Negotiations.

ANXIETY AT WASHINGTON

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 16, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.

President Roosevelt disappointed all Washington tonight by failing to make a statement as to the status of the movement toward peace between Russia and Japan. The president and Mr. Taft had a long conference tonight on peace and other topics. About 10:30 o'clock Mr. Loeb appeared at the door of the executive offices and solemnly announced there would be no statement about the situation.

From several usually well informed sources came today expressions of opinion that Japan's peace plenipotentiaries would not begin negotiations until indisputable assurances were forthcoming that Russia's plenipotentiaries were fully empowered to conclude peace. Japan was tricked by China after the war of 1894. Chinese envoys appeared at the place of peacemaking, but not until after Japan had disclosed her terms was it discovered that the envoys had no powers.

It is not possible at this time to indicate when the formal replies from Russia and Japan to the president's initiative notes will be given to the public. It is possible it may be tomorrow and it may not be for several days. The situation is quite satisfactory to the president, however, and assurance is given that the withholding of the notes is not due to any hitch in the negotiations.

Before the responses of the Russian and Japanese governments are published here, they will be transmitted formally by the president—the Japanese note to the St. Petersburg government and the Russian note to the government at Tokyo. Up ti this time, they have not been thus forwarded. The transmission of the notes will include the preliminary negotiations for peace initiated by the president, and practically will conclude this government's work in these negotiations.

Officially informed that the response to the president's appeal is favorable, it will remain for the Russian and Japanese governments to effect an arrangement for a temporary armistice, pending a direct discussion of terms for permanent peace. Information received here, both in governmental and diplomatic quarters, indicates that Japan will suggest where the first meeting of the representatives of the belligerent powers will take place and that Russia will accede to that suggestion.

At the preliminary meeting, it is the understanding that Japan will indicate the terms on which the emperor would be willing to conclude a permanent peace. The terms then will be transmitted directly to the Russian government, the question of their acceptance or rejection then lying with the Russian emperor. Later, at a meeting of plenipotentiaries of the two powers, the details of a treaty of peace will be considered. This formal peace conference, the probabilities now are, will be held in Washington, both of the belligerents favorably regarding this capital as a place for the drafting and signing of a treaty of peace.

POWERS ARE LIMITED

Great Britain can now play a great role in seconding the president's initiative, by restraining her ally and counselling moderate terms.

Russia is not likely to prove recalcitrant. According to the best opinion she is prepared to abandon the whole of her Manchurian adventure and give guarantees. The rub will come upon the question of an indemnity, which it is the consensus of opinion in diplomatic circles Japan will exact, but if it should be moderate and sugar-coated so that it could be liquidated by the sale of the Chinese Eastern railroad, and the cession of Russian property and leases in the Kwangtung peninsula, it might be overcome.

Russia probably will insist on holding the railroad to Vladivostok through Northern Manchuria, and will never submit to the humiliation of disarmament in her only port in the Pacific nor to the inhibition against having warships in those waters.

TOKYO, June 11.—The Japanese plenipotentiaries to arrange terms of peace are already under discussion. The names of Marquis Ito, Premier Katsura, Foreign Minister Komura, Marquis Yamagata and others are suggested for possible heads of the commission. Popular estimates of Japan's terms of peace vary widely and include both indemnity and cession of territory. It is believed that the peace commissioners will meet somewhere on the continent.

There is the keenest satisfaction over the preliminary step and a feeling of deep gratefulness over President Roosevelt's action. There is also genuine thanksgiving at the thought that the carnage and horror and waste of war will soon end and a genuine hope that the negotiations will bring a satisfactory and enduring peace. The national rejoicing and thanksgiving will probably be deferred until the treaty of peace is signed and all doubt ended.

The question of an armistice, which will lower the bayonets of the two enormous armies facing each other on the Manchurian frontier, has not been discussed yet. It is believed, however, that an armistice will be speedily concluded.

President Roosevelt's instructions to American Minister Griscom were delayed in transmission, and did not reach the legation until late yesterday afternoon. All information was withheld from the public until 5 o'clock tonight, when the foreign office issued a statement containing President Roosevelt's leter and Foreign Minister Komura's response, and newsboys were quickly on the streets of the capital with extra editions of the newspapers.

Fire in Old Avenue.

The building occupied by Daniel McCafferty's feed store at 716 and 718 Old avenue was damaged by fire to the extent of $10,000 early this morning. Some valuable dogs are supposed to have lost their lives in the fire.

Uniformed K. P.'s. Hear Sermon.

Last night St. John's lodge No. 10, Knights of Pythias, Millvale, attended services in the English Lutheran church, Millvale. One hundred uniformed members marched from the lodge room on Grant street to the church. The Rev. C. A. Boory, pastor of the church, preached the sermon.

TWO NATURAL ELEMENTS COMBINE TO HANDICAP THE GAZETTE TODAY

Because of unforeseen and unexpected conditions, brought about by a conflict between two of the natural elements, The Gazette is handicapped in issuing this morning's paper. As a result only one edition is put to press, the one at 2 o'clock, and readers are requested to kindly overlook any imperfections.

The conflict referred to created a picturesque scene in front of The Gazette's new home in Oliver avenue, between Wood street and Liberty avenue, and attracted the attention of hundreds in the downtown section. It happened in this wise: The city is constructing a new sewer in Oliver avenue. Yesterday's heavy rains loosened the dirt at one side of the big ditch and there was a cave-in. About 9 p. m. somebody passing along the street tossed a lighted match into the ditch after lighting his cigar, and to his surprise a big flame shot up. The cave-in had broken one of the Philadelphia Company's gas mains and the gas was leaking.

The boards covering the sewer and the supports holding the sides of the ditch apart caught fire. A still alarm was sent in and a fire company promptly appeared. A heavy spray was turned on and kept going for hours to prevent the fire spreading along the woodwork, the gas flame in the meanwhile leaping high in the street. To add to the trouble the fire melted solder in a water main and the main began to leak.

It was evident that the leaks in the gas and water mains could not be repaired unless the gas was turned off. The Gazette's gas engines are supplied from the broken gas main, and when the gas was shut off The Gazette had to shut down. That is how the conflict between two elements, water and gas, handicaped The Gazette.

CAR STRIKES PICNIC WAGON, HURTING FOUR

Guests Returning from a Family Gathering, Caught on a Steep Grade.

While a party of Troy Hill, Allegheny, residents were returning home in a wagon from Glenshaw last night the wagon was run into by Troy Hill car 1629 and four persons were hurt, while the others were given a severe fright and shaking up. The injured are:

JAMES WAKELIN, aged 16, of 26 Ravine street, Troy Hill, severe scalp wounds.

ANDREW ERNST, aged 34, of 31 Straubs lane, Troy Hill; left leg cut and bruised.

MRS. ANDREW ERNST, cut and bruised about the head and face.

JACOB UNLETZ, driver of the wagon, right arm and both legs hurt and clothes nearly torn off.

The collision occurred about 9:20 o'clock in the Troy Hill road, near Prospect street. The wagon contained 16 people, including many small children, and was on its way up the hill. The car was descending and the driver of the wagon pulled to the left side of the street to let the car pass, as at the point where the accident occurred the tracks are being repaired and the inbound cars use the outbound track for a short distance.

The running board on the car struck the rear wheel of the wagon and the Wakelin boy, who was sitting on the seat with the driver, was knocked off by the shock and fell on his head in the street. The wagon was pushed to one side by the car and Mrs. Ernst and the others injured were thrown against the side of the wagon. Unletz also fell off the wagon seat. The injured were taken to the office of Dr. Davis near Prospect street and their injuries were dressed. The Wakelin boy's wounds required nine stitches. After having their injuries dressed the people went to their homes.

The people who were riding in the wagon are relatives and yesterday held a family party and visited another relative, Henry Smoulder, at his home in Glenshaw. Besides those injured the grown people in the party were Henry Burney of Reserve township, Alexander Klaser, Susie Klaser, Thomas Klaser, all of 28 Ravine street; Mrs. Kate Wakelin, Elizabeth Wakelin and Mrs. Elizabeth Burney. The wagon, which was badly damaged, is owned by Nicholas Yockel of Troy hill road.

TRAIN KILLS AN UNKNOWN.

Was Struck by P. V. & C. Train at Homestead Saturday Night.

An unknown man was struck by a train on the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad at Homestead at 11:30 o'clock on Saturday night and died at 5:30 yesterday morning at the West Penn hospital. His skull was fractured. He was about 30 years old, weighed 165 pounds and was 5 feet 10 inches tall. He had a sandy mustache and wore a black suit and black shirt.

Jacob Mitzinger, aged 27, of 2917 Mary street, died at St. Joseph's hospital at 2:30 yesterday morning. He worked at Jones & Laughlins and on last Friday had his foot caught in a switch there and an iron buggy ran over him. His left ankle and right leg were broken and his right arm crushed. The latter was amputated and he died from shock.

James L. Boyd, aged 76, died Saturday night at the Pittsburgh hospital from injuries received by falling down stairs on May 30. The funeral will be from the residence of Joseph B. Gibson, 37 Hastings street, today at 3:30.

RAID IS EXCITING.

Officers Have a Lively Scrimmage and a Negro Is Shot.

Inspector Thomas B. Werner and a squad of policemen from the South Side station raided a negro crap game yesterday afternoon on a flat car on the West Side Belt railroad at a point where the railroad spans Sawmill run. The negroes showed fight and one, Tucker Ford, tried to evade Officers Henry Espen and John Lavelle.

In the scrimmage the trio rolled down a 100-foot embankment to Banksville avenue. When they struck the bottom of the hillside Espen's revolver was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering the calf of Ford's right leg. He was taken to the South Side hospital and his three companions were locked up.

CHILDREN WITH COW BELLS SEARCH FOR A LOST BOY

Albert, the 4-year-old son of Michael Blobner of Elizabeth street, Millvale, yesterday morning wandered away from his home and at a late hour last night had not yet been found. All afternoon and evening his parents and neighbors hunted in vain. About 100 boys and girls many with cow bells and horns, paraded the streets and alleys in a body crying: "Lost boy!" This they continued until they had gone through all the streets of the borough.

Raids a Lawrenceville House.

Captain Peter Welsh raided the house of Anthony McVehey, 498 Hatfield street, last night and arrested McVehey and one inmate.

TWO TRAGIC DEATHS OCCUR ON BIG RIVER TOWBOATS

Crazed Deckhand Attacks Officers Who Were Stearing the Boat and Then Hurls Himself Into the River—Another Man Drowned.

Two tragedies marked the voyages of Pittsburgh tow-boats on their return from recent southern trips, and somewhere in the Ohio river are the bodies of two deckhands who lost their lives under remarkable circumstances. On Saturday night while the Dave Wood, freighted with empty barges, was passing Freedom, Michael McDonough suddenly became insane. He rushed to the pilot and attacked the mate and pilot on duty, struggled to free himself when they attempted to arrest him and plunged overboard. Joseph Grislock, a deckhand on the Tom Dodsworth, was the other victim.

Both men made their headquarters in Pittsburgh when not engaged on the river. McDonough's affliction gave no warning symptom. The Dave Wood was making her way slowly against the current shortly after midnight and Pilot Edward Pugh and First Officer Harry Elliott were sitting in the pilot house. Suddenly a man rushed up the gangway and cried frantically for the boat to be stopped. At the same time he tried to seize the wheel.

With almost superhuman strength McDonough grasped the two men and threw them against the sashes of the open windows. Then with a wild shriek he leaped through the pilot house windows to the hurricane deck. In the darkness Pugh and Elliott saw the mad man rush to the bow and leap overboard. Before an alarm could be given McDonough was caught in the swirling eddies in the wake of the barges and drowned, his body being carried rapidly down stream.

The crew of the Tom Dodsworth reported that Grislock was drowned by falling overboard from the bow of the boat's tow. The accident occurred on Thursday below Sistersville.

TELLS HOW JAPANESE VIEW EASTERN WAR

Returned Missionary Pays Yellow Men High Tribute in Treatment of Enemy.

"The War as Japanese See It," was the subject of an address in the North End Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, last night by the Rev. Charles S. Davidson of Sendai, Japan, presiding elder of the Sendai district, who has just returned from Japan. He paid the Japanese high tribute for their demeanor during the war, saying in part:

Strictly speaking this subject is practically a misnomer, for really the Japanese see very little of the war. Not a shot in the war has been fired on Japanese soil, and there is nothing left of the proud Russian boast that peace would be dictated in Tokyo. But if the Japanese do not see the war they know all about it. Their marvelous newspaper facilities carry the news to the remotest village. Contrast this with the Russian practice of suppressing the news.

It is safe to say that the Japanese as a people did not desire this war with Russia. There was a noticeable lack of the jingo spirit which was prevalent during the war with China 11 years ago. Many of those who had the country's interest at heart bent every energy to prevent war. They realized the risk they would run in undertaking such a war, for not even the most sanguine expected such a series of successes as has marked the course of the conflict. The spirit with which the Japanese entered upon the war is well illustrated by one of the principles of "Bushido" or the samurai code, "the true Samurai must not draw his sword except as a last resort when provoked beyond endurance, but when he has drawn he must strike to kill." Those familiar with the tedious diplomatic negotiations which consumed the patience of the nation, and those who have noted the events of recent days, must thus see how the army and navy of modern Japan have imbued the spirit of the old-time warrior who fought with bow and spear.

The Japanese people have no personal hatred for the Russians, in this war they consider the Russian empire the enemy of Japan. The individual Japanese bears no grudge against his white neighbor. When Russian prisoners from Port Arthur were marched through the streets of Sendai, my present residence, there was not an insulting act or word from the Japanese, only looks of curiosity and pity. On the contrary many acts of kindness were shown the vanquished. When Baron Rosen, former Russian minister to Japan, was recalled, military and civil officers accompanied him to the train with all the politeness of their race.

It is interesting to note the effect of this war on the progress of Christianity in the islands. Although the Japanese are fighting a nation nominally Christian, from the beginning of the conflict they have insisted upon the recognition of the fact that this is a struggle for self-preservation and not a war of religions. Bishop Nicolai, the head of the Greek church in Japan, pursues his labors uninterruptedly, although the people recognize the difference between his type of Christianity and Protestantism, which they delight to call "Anglo-Saxon Christianity." Heretofore the army has been closed to Christian work, but during the present campaign Christian workers have been allowed at the very front, and every opportunity is given for evangelistic work in the way of preaching and the distribution of the scriptures.

R. W. HERBERT IN THE LEAD.

Certain of Nomination for County Commissioner in West Moreland.

Miller Wins in Somerset.

GREENSBURG, June 11.—(Special.)—The returns of the vote cast at the Democratic primary election yesterday are coming in with unusual slowness. Sixty districts give R. W. Herbert, 3,200; David W. Shupe, 2,400; D. A. Mowry, 1,980; John S. McKean, 1,800; E. G. Sheets, 550 and C. S. Funk, 347, for county commissioner. It is probable that elections were held in only about 90 of the 160 districts in the county. The return judges will meet tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock to tabulate the vote. Herman Hammel is nominated for director of the poor and his running mate is probably John F. Hayden.

SOMERSET, June 11.—(Special.)—Complete returns of yesterday's Democratic primaries will show the nomination of Joseph B. Miller of Jefferson township, for county commissioner, and S. A. Kretchman of Summit county, for auditor. All the precincts have not yet been heard from but those outstanding will not materially affect the result. George Dongas of Meyersdale, and Thomas E. Null of Addison township, may contest Miller's nomination.

BOND ELECTION TODAY.

Sharpsburg Needs the Money to Build a New School.

Today an $80,000 bond issue election will be held in Sharpsburg for the erection of a new school building. In an election one year ago the bond issue was defeated by a small majority, but those in favor of it are confident that it will win out this time.

The new building is to replace the old school in North Canal street, which is in a dilapidated condition and inadequate. If the ladies carries it is the intention of the school board to sell the old property and secure a more favorable site. The school is now alongside of the West Penn railroad tracks making the location undesirable.

RIDES BICYCLE INTO RIVER TO ESCAPE FREIGHT TRAIN

John Morrilla, a millworker of Sharpsburg, was riding a bicycle on a foot path along the West Penn railroad at Harmarville yesterday afternoon. Not hearing a freight train until it was almost upon him and not having time to dismount, he turned his wheel over the river bank. He and the bicycle landed in the stream about 15 feet below. He emerged with his bicycle and rode back to Sharpsburg, little the worse for his experience.

Convention of Y. P. C. U.

The 16th annual convention of the Allegheny conference branch of the Young Peoples' Christian union of the Church of the United Brethren in Christ will be held on June 20 and 21 in the United Brethren church, Wilkinsburg. There are 175 societies in the Allegheny conference and 200 delegates will attend the convention.

Break Up Christening.

Lewey Palino and Dorman Fridance indulged in an overabundance of liquid refreshments at an Italian christening in Finga street, East End, last night and renewed an old grudge which led to a fight. The fight and the christening was brought to a conclusion by the arrival of the police, who put both men under arrest.

Does Not Admit Everything.

Virginia Cleggs, aged 19, whose home is in the Thirty-first ward, was arrested yesterday by the Allegheny police. Until Saturday the girl had lived as a domestic at 835 Liberty street, Allegheny. After she had gone a time, some underwear and $5 were missing. The girl admitted taking the rug and underwear, but denies any knowledge of the money.

TRUSTEESHIP IS TO BE ORGANIZED

Messrs. Cleveland, Westinghouse and O'Brien to Meet in New York City.

EQUITABLE AGENTS COMING

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, June 11.

Interest in the Equitable Life situation was sustained today by the announcement that there would be a meeting tomorrow or Tuesday of the trustees appointed under the terms of the sale of James H. Hyde's stock to Thomas F. Ryan, at which the organization of the trusteeship will be effected and a decision made as to the powers of the board of three under the trust agreement.

Judge Morgan J. O'Brien and George Westinghouse are in this city, and it was said tonight that Grover Cleveland would come from Princeton tomorrow. Paul Morton, the new head of the society, will return from Washington tomorrow morning and will take up his quarters in the executive committee room. It has been learned that one of the subjects upon which Insurance Superintendent Hendricks' report will dwell is the adoption of a new policy in regard to the character of the securities in which the company may in the future invest. It is understood that the suggestion which Mr. Hyde made at the outset of the discussion regarding the Equitable investments—that these securities should be of the same nature as the law allows savings banks to make—will be indorsed in the report.

It is expected that a new phase of the Equitable situation will develop tomorrow when a score of managing agents, who have come from all sections of the country to watch the progress of the new scheme of adjusting the society's difficulties, meet at an uptown hotel. The conference is the result of the apparently authoritative report that Gage E. Tarbell will be asked to retire from the second vice presidency.

MORE BOOKS CIRCULATED.

Annual Report of Library at Johnstown Shows Increased Circulation.

JOHNSTOWN, June 11.—(Special.)—The annual report of the Johnstown library, which has just been completed, shows that the circulation of books from that most complete institution is steadily on the increase. Notwithstanding that the library and all its contents were destroyed in the flood of 16 years ago, and that it was some years afterward before great interest was again taken in the work, the report shows that 65,953 volumes were circulated within the fiscal year just ended and that more than 1,000 new books have been added to the shelves.

The government volumes circulated or open to the public number 17,382. The members number 4,242, or about one-fifteenth of the entire population of Johnstown and its immediate vicinity. The new officers elected last evening for the ensuing year are as follows: President, Charles S. Price; vice president, Harry S. Endsley, Esq.; secretary, B. H. Weaver; treasurer, J. W. Townsend.

READY FOR THE ATTACK.

Defenders of Baltimore Hear a Part of Admiral Dicken's Fleet Is Heading Toward City.

BALTIMORE, June 11.—Since midnight the officers and men of the artillery district of Baltimore, under the command of Col. Frank Thorp, have been on the alert for any signs of the fleet which, under Rear Admiral Francis W. Dickens, will test the effectiveness of the defenses of this city, consisting of Forts Howard, Smallwood, Armistead and Carroll, and the mines which have been laid in the channel leading to the harbor.

Information has been received here that at least a part of the fleet, having left the rendezvous at Solomons Island, is headed this way, a number of torpedo boats and other war vessels having been sighted off Horseshoe Point, a few miles below the mouth of the Severn river.

GOTHAM SUFFERS A FLOOD.

Break in Water Main Causes Suspension of Traffic in Subway and Other Damage.

NEW YORK, June 11.—A break in the 48-inch high-pressure water main in Park avenue, near Forty-second street today resulted in the flooding of the block just below the Grand Central station, the street car tunnel and the Subway, the stoppage of traffic in the Subway for many hours, serious damage to the underground road and great danger to many passengers. The damage is estimated at $100,000.

Incidentally it resulted in the caving-in of Park avenue over an area of 20 feet by eight, from which ran cracks that mean danger for adjacent buildings. Traffic was not resumed on the Subway until after midnight.

MANY KILLED AND WOUNDED.

Greeks and Bulgarians Engage in a Series of Battles With Disastrous Results.

SALONICA, EUROPEAN TURKEY, June 11.—In the fighting at Panchattin, near Vodena, on June 2, it is said the Greeks lost three killed while the Bulgarians lost 25 killed or wounded, besides 17 prisoners who were executed by their captors.

On June 3 in a fight at Libadi, west of Gumendja, three Greeks and 15 Bulgarians were killed. The Bulgarians would have been annihilated but for the timely arrival of Turkish troops. There is constant skirmishing in this district between Bulgarians and Turkish troops. The latter number 800.

HARMON AND JUDSON WILL NOT PROSECUTE SANTA FE

Former Attorney General Promises a Statement Defining His Position in Matter.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, June 11.—Judge Judson Harmon positively declines to discuss the report that he and Frederick Judson of St. Louis have withdrawn as special counsel in the prosecution of the Santa Fe rate cases. This evening the former attorney general of the United States said that he will issue a statement within a few days explaining his position in the matter.

It can be positively stated, however, that he and his colleagues have tendered their resignations. This step was taken because they came to the conclusion that they would not be able to work in harmony with the attorney general's department at Washington. When appointed to the cases in February, they decided upon a sweeping course of action against all the officials of the Santa Fe believed to be involved in the alleged violations of the law against rebating, regardless of the consequences to persons high in authority.

This plan, it was said, did not meet with as strong approval by the department of justice as they had hoped and they served notice that they would withdraw unless the cases were taken up within a certain period, in the spirit in which they believed the prosecution should be carried on.

FIND CHILD DEAD AT CONCLUSION OF QUARREL

Following a family quarrel in the home of Joseph Subban, a Croatian, at 114 First street, Rankin, yesterday morning, his two-months-old child, Lazz Subban, is dead, the mother is in bed suffering from severe cuts and bruises and the father is being held in the borough lockup, pending an investigation. It is said the child was in perfect health last night. It is not believed that the child was deliberately murdered, but it is suspected that it was injured in the course of the altercation.

ARGUMENT FOR A GREATER CITY

Receipts in Allegheny Postoffice Decrease Because North Side People Buy in Pittsburgh.

PLAIN TALK BY FRANCIES

In discussing proposed improvements in the Allegheny postal service Postmaster John Francies last night made a statement which furnishes a good argument in favor of a Greater Pittsburgh. During the past year the receipts from the sale of stamps at the North Side office have fallen off $30,000. This money was spent in Pittsburgh, to the detriment of the Allegheny service.

It is the aim of Postmaster Francies to improve the service in the Allegheny postoffic and endeavor to bring it up to date. The number of clerks and carriers allowed is based on the receipts from the sale of stamps. To secure betterments, there must be a good showing in the business of the office.

"When I took charge of the Allegheny office," said Mr. Francies, "I soon saw how the service could be bettered. An examination of the receipts from last year's business astonished me. I found that the falling off in the cash received from the sale of stamps over the previous year amounted to $30,000. At the same time I discovered the outlying districts were not getting the service to which they were entitled, and in many respects the postal facilities in Allegheny were no better than those of a good-sized country town.

Had to Turn Business Away.

"At present it is impossible to register a letter or send a money order after 5 o'clock in the evening. I have made arrangements to keep these windows open every week day from 9 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night. Now the stamp window is open for one hour on Sundays. In the future stamps can be bought at retail on Sundays from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. The general delivery window will also be kept open from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m., and from 4 until 10 p. m. on Sundays.

"Last Sunday I heard a man beg for the privilege to buy a special delivery stamp. He had to be told to go across the street to a drug store and make the purchase. Such conditions should not exist in a city of 170,000 population, and they will not continue if the citizens of Allegheny assist me. We have started a Sunday collection service along the main thoroughfare and in four weeks the collections have increased 100 per cent. I take this as an indication that the people appreciate betterments. I now want to increase the number of carriers in Allegheny to keep pace with the growth in the residential sections, and also desire more men for Bellevue and Etna. This cannot be done unless we show an increase in the receipts from stamps."

Greater Pittsburgh Argument.

When asked if he did not consider the decrease in the receipts from the sale of stamps as a good argument in favor of a Greater Pittsburgh, Postmaster Francies replied:

"I neither know nor care anything about arguments concerning a greater city at the present time. Allegheny is a separate municipality and as its postmaster it is my aim to give the city the best postal service possible. To do this the people of Allegheny must sustain their own postoffice. I am certain there is a misapprehension existing among the business men and the public as to how we secure our service. The number of our employes is based on our receipts. If these people purchase their stamps in Allegheny we will have the money to pay carriers and clerks. If they do not purchase the stamps in Allegheny, the department in Washington will not grant the extra carriers. It is simply a question of whether the residents of Allegheny are willing to co-operate with the postmaster in giving the service to which the city is entitled."

The $30,000 lost to Allegheny was received by the Pittsburgh postoffice and was utilized in extending the Pittsburgh service. With a greater city, Alleghenians could still buy stamps on their side of the river, and not suffer for want of carriers.

OFFICER BADLY HURT.

In Attempting to Arrest Michael Morrisey Policeman Patrick Flaherty Receives Terrible Punishment.

In attempting to arrest Michael Morrisey at his home in McKeesport yesterday afternoon Policeman Patrick Flaherty was fearfully beaten. Morrisey was also roughly handled before he finally submitted to arrest following a desperate fight. Morrisey, who is a large man and exceptionally strong, is said to have boasted that no policeman in McKeesport would ever arrest him. Yesterday afternoon, it is said, he raised a disturbance at his home, hurling flatirons about the house, smashing the piano and wrecking other furniture. Police help was summoned and Flaherty responded. Morrisey turned on the officer and knocked him down. He is said also to have kicked and beaten the policeman.

Morrisey then fled, pursued by Officer John Prosser, who overtook the fugitive after a chase of several blocks. Morrisey again resisted arrest and a fierce battle ensued between the two men in the street. The encounter was watched by hundreds of pedestrians on their way to church. Some one finally sent in a riot call and eight officers arrived, after Morrisey and Prosser had been fighting for about 10 minutes. The former was placed in the lockup. Flaherty was so severely injured that the services of a physician were required.

LAUGHLIN'S YACHT ARRIVES.

New Craft Owned by a Pittsburgher Reaches New York Harbor from Scotland.

NEW YORK, June 11.—(Special.)—There arrived at this port today from Leith, Scotland, the new steam yacht Corona, owned by Henry A. Laughlin of Pittsburgh, a member of the Atlantic Yacht club. The Corona left Leith on May 20. She coaled at Falmouth and sailed for St. Michaels on May 23. She arrived at the latter place on May 29, coaled again and sailed for this port. An English crew brought the vessel over, but the owner's skipper, Capt. C. E. Hulfe, and his engineer, Frank Broughton, are by the vessel.

The Corona is 170 feet over all and 140 feet on the water line. She is at Tebo's, South Brooklyn, and will be immediately refitted and placed in commission for the season's service. The Corona was built at Leith. Her tonnage is 304 gross and 133 net. She has a speed of about 12 knots. Mr. Laughlin has been a member of the Atlantic Yacht club since 1895. He formerly owned the steam yacht Vesta.

HILL TOP TO CELEBRATE.

Fireworks, Parade, Speeches and Music Will Be Features at McKinley Park.

The Hill Top district of the South Side will have its usual Fourth of July celebration, independent of the one by the city. The demonstration will consist of a parade, fireworks display and patriotic exercises in McKinley park. An address will be delivered by Congressman A. J. Barchfield and the Rev. F. Beiswenger will make a speech in German. Music will be a feature.

The celebration will be under the auspices of the Hill Top board of trade and other organizations of the hill wards and adjoining boroughs. A popular subscription is being taken to defray the expenses. A meeting was held last night at the hall in Mt. Oliver street, Twenty-seventh ward, to make arrangements and committees were present from a number of organizations.

Punishment Follows Swiftly.

William Dickson was arrested at 2 o'clock yesterday morning while pursuing a woman on Glat street. A few hours later, at Magistrate Moke's request, he agreed to $5 and costs.

WATER TOO FAR AWAY; TAKES CARBOLIC ACID

Byrnes Hesitated Between Leaping from Bridge and Poison, Finally Choosing Latter.

Jerry P. Byrnes of 23 Balkam street, Allegheny, studied whether to end his life by jumping into the Allegheny river or drink carbolic acid and finally chose the latter while on the Seventh street bridge yesterday afternoon. He was taken to the Homeopathic hospital, where it was found that he had not taken sufficient poison to injure himself, and late last night he was taken to the Central station.

Byrnes had been despondent on account, it is said, of domestic troubles. The police say that several weeks ago his wife left him. Since that time he has been drinking. Yesterday he went to the City drug store, 626 Penn avenue, and bought some carbolic acid. He walked out on the Seventh street bridge. Leaning over the railing of the down-stream side of the bridge, he gazed at the water for several minutes.

"The water seems a long distance away," he soliloquized. Then he arrived at a conclusion, evidently, for, reaching in his pocket, he took out the bottle of poison and drank it. He was seen by R. McIlwaine of 604 Cedar avenue, Allegheny, and the latter ran toward him. In his haste to swallow the acid Byrnes spilled most of it on his shirt front.

W. J. Doherty, toll keeper, notified the Allegheny and Pittsburgh police departments. Patrol wagons started from both station houses. The wagons appeared at the respective ends of the bridge at the same time, and they raced to the center to capture the case. The horses from the Pittsburgh department were faster and Byrnes was placed in the wagon and taken to the hospital.

Byrnes formerly worked for the Pittsburgh and Ohio Milk Company, and also recently was employed by the Ft. Pitt Ice Cream Company. He is about 28 years old.

Byrnes is thought to be a man who escaped from Central police station about three weeks ago. Police Officer Clarence Forbes went to the hospital to see if he could identify him, but the patient was asleep. The prisoner who escaped was named Byrnes. He had been given a hearing in Magistrate Moke's office on the second floor of the station and held for court. While coming down stairs he escaped from Officer Forbes by running through Cherry alley.

PICNIC ORGANIZATION.

St. Paul's Orphans' Asylum Next Annual Benefit Expected to Exceed All Previous Ones.

A permanent organization for St. Paul's Orphans' picnic was effected at a meeting held last night in the Catholic Lyceum on Washington street by representatives of a majority of the parishes in the diocese. A. S. McSwigan was elected chairman; J. C. Reilly and Thomas Cosgrove, vice chairmen, and Father Lynch, secretary and treasurer. It is expected to raise $25,000 at the picnic this year.

Several additional parishes came forward with offers to take tables at the picnic and the list now includes Epiphany, St. Peter's, Allegheny; St. Andrew's, Allegheny; St. Patrick's, Bayardstown; St. Brigid's, on the hill; Sacred Heart, East End; St. Peter's, McKeesport; St. John's, South Side; St. Mary's of the Mount, Holy Cross, Brownstown; St. Stephens, Hazelwood, and St. Aloysius, Wilmerding. More will be added during the coming week.

The reports made last night indicate more than usual interest among the churches. In several parishes women's auxiliary committees to work in conjunction with the general committees, were organized at meetings held yesterday, and it is probable that this plan will be followed throughout the diocese. Good progress has been made in the sale of tickets and other preliminary work.

Chairman McSwigan was authorized to appoint the necessary sub-committees and will probably have them ready to announce at the meeting in the Lyceum next Sunday night.

Punishes Mysterious Peeper.

B. Cernitsky, who refused to disclose his residence or occupation, was fined $25 and costs or 30 days to the workhouse yesterday for peeping into windows and trying doors in the Twenty-sixth ward.

Thank trade conditions for giving you newest goods—both goods by the yard and ready-to-wear garments—for prices that are really of no consequence. The quotations this morning have a discordant twinge that does not become the things they represent; but we can't help it. If manufacturers will insist on offering us goods for ridiculous prices we're not the one to let such opportunity pass. There never were such times as the present for saving money by spending a little. Put Saturday's news and this morning's news together, and you have a program for today that has had no equal for a long time.

Director Moore has wisely advanced the trial of Police Superintendent Wallace from the regular meeting day, Wednesday, to today, irrespective of the probable outcome. A case of such serious nature implicating as high an official as the superintendent of police, needs to be disposed of with all possible dispatch.

A reported deterioration of 18 per cent in the condition of winter wheat in Kansas was used as a bull card on Saturday. This report may be confirmed by the regular weekly estimate of the government. Even so, it should be remembered that Kansas is not the only grower of winter wheat and that the deterioration is from an abnormally high standard.

Baron d'Estournelles de Constant is outspoken in praise of the American initiative for peace in the far east. He declares it has illustrated again the virility of the great republic that it has acted while Europe hesitated. Of course we are grateful for the baron's compliment, but it is worth while to remember that America is more free from entangling alliances than any of the European powers.

Out of the Kansas furore, it is confidently reported, has grown a project for a pipe line to the Gulf of Mexico. The enterprise is to be financed by the Mellons of Pittsburgh, John W. Gates of Chicago and the Cudahys, meat packers of Chicago and Kansas City. The oil is to be taken by the Schell Transport and Trading Company of London. The combination is a formidable one. If it enters the field it will divide honors with the Standard Oil interest, whether or not the producer gets any better price for his oil.

McKees Rocks citizens have begun a crusade against vice in that borough. Incidentally they are also campaigning against the indifference or worse of the peace officers of the town. Movements of this sort are encouraging to those who have confidence in American institutions, for they indicate an active public conscience. The extent to which officers charged with enforcement of the laws are negligent of their duty has been one of the most discouraging features of popular government, but when public sentiment arouses to combat the evil it is a good sign.

The report of the board that investigated the Zeigler mine disaster that caused the loss of 51 lives, has just been made public by Gov. Deneen of Illinois. The findings are somewhat severe on the owners, for the report states that the mine had not been submitted to daily inspection as required, crosscuts had not been made every 60 feet and a large quantity of powder had been stored in one of the passages, which was contrary to the law. Legal action is likely to follow the report, but its immediate effect will be to cause a stricter enforcement of the mining laws in Illinois.

While the bureau of county detectives was not created for the purpose of looking after the cities, the raid of an alleged gambling house in Station street affords evidence of usefulness in that direction. There have been many assurances from the city police bureau that every gaming resort in Pittsburgh had been closed. If it believed that to be the case it may be accounted for on the ground that city officers were too well known to be allowed to make a discovery. The county detectives being less easily identified have been able to get clues. This speculation, however, is unimportant compared with the results.

Though there be some disposition to poke fun at the navy maneuvers, supposed to represent an attack on Baltimore and Washington, they are really valuable practices. The efficiency of the American navy is a thing of which the nation has ever been proud. Practical evolutions and target shooting are an important factor in maintaining it. Pending the result of the sham attack it is gratifying to learn the gunners of the Kentucky have just made a record by scoring 50 out of a possible 53 at the target. It is that kind of shooting that wins. It won at Manila and at Santiago. It won at Port Arthur and on the sea of Japan.

Philippine Railroads.

Publication of the invitation to provide railroads for the Philippine islands, as authorized by congress, is likely to be followed by some activity. Details of the plan make it manifest there are good opportunities for the investment of capital and there can be no doubt the development of a railway system in the islands will be of immense advantage to them. The proposal to levy one-half of one per cent of the gross receipts for the Philippine government is not onerous, considering the government of the United States guarantees interest on necessary bonds for 80 years.

It may be accepted as a fact that Secretary Taft made sure of his ground before making report to the president proposing a Philippine railroad subsidy. There is not one chance in ten that any interest will have to be paid by the government after the roads are in operation. The roads will prove profitable from the start and will not only operate to increase the revenues of the island government, but by stimulating industry will be a power in maintaining the peace of the country.

Exports to Canada.

American exports to Canada continue to increase regardless of adverse legislation. The statement for ten months of the current fiscal year, compiled by the bureau of statistics, department of commerce and labor, shows an increase of nearly $11,000,000 as compared with the corresponding months of the preceding year. The total now is considerably more than twice the total when Canada began giving a preferential tariff rate to Great Britain.

In April, 1897, the Canadian parliament adopted a preferential of 12½ per cent in favor of Great Britain. Our exports to Canada for ten months of that fiscal year aggregated $51,903,574. This total was more than doubled last year when the figures rose to $104,155,893 for the ten months, though the preferential to Great Britain was increased to 25 per cent in August, 1898, and to 33 1-3 per cent on July 1, 1900. The total for the ten months of this year is $114,943,079, the rate of increase being larger than for the preceding seven years.

This condition of things is more satisfactory to the United States than to Canada, apparently, and is due to the operation of natural laws. Canada needs American products and can get them on short notice. Tariff differentials do not serve to increase the cost of American goods much beyond that of English goods and the element of time is all in our favor. Canadian official circles might as well submit with a good grace.

Japan Not Sanguine.

Whatever may be thought in Russia of the preliminary steps toward peace, Japan is not optimistic. It is freely admitted Japan is desirous to have peace, but this is qualified by the declaration that it will be accepted only on terms that will assure the peace of the orient. The armistice will be agreed to, the Japanese say, if ample guarantees are given that Japanese interests will not suffer, though Japanese opinion is obviously doubtful that Russia is acting in good faith.

It may be taken for granted the Japanese terms will be severe. The hope of the world for peace lies in the belief that Russia must now realize its desperate situation and that continuance of the war will cost more than the settlement demanded. Russian prestige has already suffered serious deterioration and the humiliation of the empire is complete. Peace should be preferred to continuation of the war at almost any price, but it is not safe to assume Russia will take this view of the case.

The Sounds of Summer.

If the gentlemanly and effusive poets and impressionistics who have written alluring screeds about the melody of nature's summer orchestra could be forced to live in any one of the residence districts of a big modern city like Pittsburgh and compelled to spend their days as well as nights there, the arrangement would be quite a satisfactory punishment for their poetic liberty. Commencing in the gray dawn, the rattle, bump and clang of the milkman's rickety wagon breaks across the troubled dreams of the tired householder. From that rude moment onward through the day the "sounds of summer" proceed to tie the aforesaid poets into a maze of contradictory echoes that would make rag time, a sawmill, a boiler factory and a steam roller combined sound like a Chopin nocturne by comparison. The gay and festive vender of garden sass is the chief director and principal vocalist in this concert. The law in its gentle desire to accord every man a square deal has given the low-browed, raucous-voiced brigand of the push cart greater liberties than it allows the smokestacks of our massive industrial plants. The smokestack only assails the eye at a distance or the skin at close range. The dispenser of wilted beet tops and internally defective bananas attacks the ear drums in the morning hours with a volley of mingled sounds, guttural screeches and crescendos that has Niagara Falls, the battle of Port Arthur and a back fence concert of Kilkenny vocalists licked to a finish. But, crashing into this already demented condition of the circumambient atmosphere, comes the whirr, rattle, wheeze and groan of a hurdy-gurdy on one corner, a little German band on another, and an artistic dog fight in the middle. The bang of the carpet beater, the yell of the street urchin and the falsetto of the lawn mower add their crazy interjections to this orchestra of nature.

Seriously, are not the noises of our cities given a license that would shame the restricted privileges that we extend to speakeasies, pickpockets and three-card monte gentlemen? And yet the average man would rather be robbed of his worldly goods under the persuasion of a bludgeon or the coquetry of a pair of deuces than to have his tympanum crushed out of all semblance by the sounds that rise above and slop over all reasonable necessity. Nervous prostration is on the increase, insomnia is mowing down its thousands and the health authorities talk wisely of microbes and germs. The day of sleep and serene civil liberty will only dawn when the great American masses in our cities rise up and cast from their midst these makers of noise who otherwise perform no important function in the body politic or industrial.

Graft Cases to Go On.

Replying to a question one of the attorneys for the prosecution in the Allegheny graft cases declared the cases will be called in succession without reference to verdicts from the juries. The question was hardly necessary. The reply is the only one that could properly be given. These cases rest upon informations duly made after investigation and it is the duty of the attorneys to prosecute them to a finish. It is a mere incident that a jury brings in a verdict of acquittal or one that is indecisive. Defendants are entitled to vindication by a jury if mistakenly charged with wrong doing. Even an occasional verdict contrary to the evidence would afford no excuse for dropping other cases without full judicial determination.

There is no doubt in the public mind that bad conditions exist in Allegheny. Vice has been prevalent in that city. It ought not to be so. Whether the district attorney's office has indicted the persons responsible for those conditions remains to be determined on the sworn evidence. Attorneys in charge believe they are on the right track and it is their proper purpose to present their evidence in court for the information of jurors and the public in order that the persons indicted may be judicially freed from stain on their reputations or convicted, according to the facts. If juries do not return verdicts warranted by the evidence in each case, the court of public opinion will.

Pipe Lines as Common Carriers.

A report was sent out from Washington some days ago that a determined effort will be made at the coming session of congress to pass a bill declaring pipe lines to be common carriers. A Kansas congressman is supposed to be nursing the matter. The purpose is to bring these carriers under provisions of the interstate commerce law, including the proposed rate legislation.

Probably the oil and gas pipe lines are in need of regulation in the interest of the public, but the proposal to make them common carriers suggests serious complications. The pipe line is unique among the agencies for transportation in the fact that it is unable to receive property from a consignor and deliver it to a designated consignee. It may receive and it may deliver, but in the process of transportation all receipts become inextricably mingled into common property. The oil or gas consigned by one owner cannot possibly be distinguished from that of another. Under these circumstances it will be difficult to bring pipe lines under the regulations that apply to carriers of specific packages.

Out of this peculiarity of their business has grown the system of cash purchase at the point of production. The goods can be graded there before being mingled with other qualities. The system has been generally beneficial though not always satisfactory. It creates an impression that there is but one buyer. Yet it can hardly be improved by a mere declaration that pipe lines are common carriers, or by any attempt to compel the receipt and delivery of specific cargoes, as in the case of a steamboat or railroad.

Judge Wanty of the United States district court at Columbus is not wanting in an accurate sense of justice. When Attorney F. S. Monnett brought references to the beef trust and other corporations in a case where they had no bearing, the judge instructed the jury to find on the evidence and not on prejudice. That is good law and it is justice.

When Police Superintendent Wallace comes to trial on other charges today he might be asked to explain how the county detectives came to "scoop" his force in the Station street raid.

A frisky automobile ran into Chicago river and three persons were drowned. That water is not as thick as many persons had supposed. If it was it would carry a locomotive.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

In May a maid loves a man madly,
June's passion is less like a flame,
In July she calls him plain Mister,
And in August 's forgotten his name.
—Commercial Advertiser.

Can such things be?

Versifiers and smart writers are continually getting off such stuff as this, and it is having its effect on society.

Of course no fellow will believe that of the girl who loved him madly last month, even though she may not be quite as enthusiastic over him as she was a few weeks ago.

Nor does the girl who fell madly, desperately in love last month imagine that a month hence she will come to regard her beau as nothing more than a common man. Nor will she do so if she loves, even if she loves only a little bit, if that little be genuine.

The mistake is in calling every passing fancy or touch of fascination, love.

Every one is touched in this way at times, but only the thoughtless regard it seriously, or think it a touch of real love.

Young people are apt to be touched by the flame and some are painfully singed by it.

Mr. Quiet Observer—For some time I have been thinking of writing you on a subject that is bothering me a good deal. I really don't know whether to be ashamed of it or not, but since I can't get rid of it, I may as well confess it.

To begin with, I am past 60, but young for my years, well preserved and full of life. I was married at 30, and became a widower at 55. For five years or more I have lived a single life, have prospered in business, seen a good deal of the world and altogether have had quite a good time.

Less than a year ago I met a woman considerably less than half my age, and took a sudden fancy to her, and not a little to my surprise, she took a fancy to me. Naturally, I was pleased to find that she not only enjoyed my company, but preferred me to younger and handsomer men.

Thinking it a mutually friendly feeling and nothing more, I continued my attentions to her, and we got along nicely, so nicely that I found myself becoming very fond of her, so much so that I called more and more frequently. And I also noticed that if I remained away longer than usual she seemed a good deal put out about it.

So far we haven't discussed marriage, not in the first person, only in the abstract, yet I have thought a good deal about it and imagine that she has, too, and if I am not greatly mistaken, she has serious intentions concerning me, and I am certain I would have concerning her were I not hovering around the chloroform period in life.

The object of my affections is rather vivacious, bright and intellectual, and quite affectionate. Not bad qualities, do you think? And I am certain she is the making of a good wife for some man, but don't you think he ought to be a man considerably below 60?

My folks say I am an old fool, and often quote that saying: "Old fools are the worst of fools." And then they will say that she is a young fool, and sagely remark that a young fool ranks next to an old one. And I have heard that her folks regale her with like observations.

Being strongly inclined to agree with Dr. Osler that men are not much good after 60 on account of their natural tendency to a physical decline, I am in a quandary how to act at this particular time and in this particular case.

Were I subject to attacks of this sort I wouldn't think so much of it, but it is the first I have had since I became a single man for the second time.

I would ask you to advise me in this matter, which will be well received, not only by myself, but by a great many other old fellows who have been touched in the heart by sweet young women.
WIDOWER.

Quite an interesting case, don't you think? And it is but one of many, for there are many men past the middle of life who feel as young as they used to be and as apt to fall in love as ever they were.

There isn't anything wrong about this if they will only fall in love with women of their own class as regards age. This they are not inclined to do, but seek for partners among those who are young and gay.

There are many men of 60 who are young for their years, and might make very acceptable husbands for a few years, but they are bound to age so rapidly that they will be really old men when young wives would be still in the prime and vigor of life. It is then that trouble comes to both, for then they realize that they are not suited to each other.

After a man has passed 60 the downward course in the path of life sharpens and shortens very much more rapidly than from 45 to 60, so that the disparagement between the ages of a man who at 60 marries a woman half his age or less, becomes very apparent.

No doubt our correspondent is really in love with the woman and the indications are that she is in love with him. But will she love him just the same when he is 70 or 75, and she a buxom woman of 40 or less?

This is the main point for consideration. Indeed, it is a most vital point, and one that should be freely discussed at their private seances. And it would be well for them to hunt up precedents. These will not be hard to find, and they are usually quite convincing. As a rule such unions do not pan out well in happiness.

* * *

There is no use in trying to controvert the fact, the very reasonable fact, that young, hearty, vigorous women cannot love and admire old men, or those who are declining in life and vigor, as they can those who are in their own class as to age. And what a woman cannot do from her heart out she is not likely to do at all.

Men of 60, and up, should be exceedingly careful about getting married, remembering that they are among the "has-beens," and no longer in condition to dig for livings for two.

If a man of three score, or even more, has sufficient means upon which to support a wife there can be no objection to his marrying, provided he choose a woman who is in his class as to age, so that they may go down the decline together. This is much more rational than that while he is going down she is still climbing up toward the divide.

And then these old chappies must, if they happen to be well fixed, be ever on the lookout for designing females, those who are willing to marry for money and take chances on becoming attractive widows before long.

A widower of 60 or upwards who has money will find himself beset by designing women—not bad women, but women who are looking for a good thing for themselves.

Young women should beware of old men, for they are not their natural mates and mismating is the surest means by which to secure unhappiness for life.

A Gold Plated Lot.

A parcel of land in New York's financial district sold for nearly $600 a square foot the other day and this is said to be the record price in the western hemisphere. "Cover it with silver dollars and you can have it," said the owner to a young man who was seeking to make real estate sales 40 years ago. He took the proposition seriously and figuring up the cost on that basis accepted the proposition. When the owner examined the figures and found them too low, he said he meant that the silver dollars should be piled on edge. Ten years ago the same man was told again that he could have the property if he covered it with gold dollars. A skyscraper will occupy the place, as it will be the only form of building that will offer sufficient rent space for a profit.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 11.—It was Dr. Hale who wrote the story of "The Man Without a Country," but the census enumerators who have been busy the past ten days trying to find out just how many people live in Greater New York, are writing in their reports the story of "The Man—and Woman—Without a Home." The work of the enumerators is not yet half done, and it is impossible to even approximately guess how many people there are in New York who have no homes, but enough has been learned to make sure that the figures will reach into the hundreds of thousands. At the start it was expected that 10,000 blanks known as individual slips would be enough to go around, but the first supply has been exhausted and other ten thousands have been supplied several times. Because of the great number of people who have no homes beyond the proverbial hall bed rooms, and who apparently have no friends, the work of the enumerators has been slow, and twice as much time will be consumed as was at first thought necessary to complete the work.

Sociologists seem to think that the great homeless population of New York has gradually sprung up within the past five or ten years. Certainly the number of hotels, boarding houses and small apartment houses is many times greater than ten or even five years ago. Each one of these places harbors scores of men and women of whom little or nothing is known, because they flit from one to another in a vain effort to find a maximum of comfort at a minimum of cost. They make no friends and few acquaintances, consequently none but themselves can give the enumerators the necessary information, and there is great loss of time in waiting for individual interviews. Many even refuse to fill out and return the individual slips, which involves much night work on the part of the census-takers in order to do their work thoroughly and that no one shall be missed who would be valuable in swelling the total of the city's population.

Drawing Power of the Metropolis.

New York City seems to have great drawing power, and every section of the country pays its human toll to swell the greatness of Gotham. Not only does every young man in the country seem ambitious to try his luck in the greatest city in the land, but the young women as well, particularly those who have their own way to make in the world, seem to think that the royal road to wealth, position and happiness starts and ends on the island of Manhattan. As a result, the city is overflowing with young people who have left comfortable homes in the west and south for the small rooms and cheap restaurants of the city. Not all of them are compelled to subsist on husks, it is true, but the great majority find it more difficult to make both ends meet in the city than they did in the villages and on the farms of the west. But they refuse to admit defeat, and will continue to swell the great total of the city's homeless.

Catering to the Young Man.

The investors of the city have discovered that it is worth their while to cater to the wants of the young man. There are scores of bachelor apartment houses in the city where young men can secure small rooms at almost any price from $4 a week up to the limit of their purses. The cheaper ones are, of course, very undesirable, though they can be made comfortable, and it is generally figured out that the average youth only wants a place to sleep. His days and his evenings are generally spent in the strenuous life abounding in all parts of the city. For the studious youth, who does not care to waste his time, there are better accommodations to be had at slightly increased prices. Rooms with private baths can be had for from $8 per week up, and two rooms with attached bath for from $50 per week up. In private houses the prices run, in the poorer sections of the city as low as $2 per week.

Looking After the Young Women.

So much has been written about the Martha Washington hotel that it is the general impression that this is the only exclusively women's hotel in the city. Scarcely any note is taken of the dozen or so of other such places in that section of the city above Fifty-ninth street. There are several which advertise rooms as low as $4 per week, and they are as cosy and comfortable as some of the higher priced places. By building in those parts of the city where the boom has not driven the ground values beyond all reason, it has been found possible to make good dividends at these low prices. Then they have the advantage of being nearly always filled up, so that the income is steady and certain all the year. In the higher placed places there is always a falling off in business during the summer, when those who can afford it go to the mountains or seashore.

With a Touch of Charity.

Besides these places, there are a score of little hotels and boarding houses in the city that are maintained by people with the idea of making life pleasant for the homeless young men and women rather than with an idea of making a profit. Mr. John D. Arbuckle is the leader in this form of philanthropy, but he has many followers, the majority of whom admit that they are losing little or nothing in the venture, but are at the same time doing a great work in adding to the comfort of the self-supporting, hard-working young people who have yet to make their way in the world. All of these places are well filled at all times, and some of them have waiting lists.

The Appointment of Judge Stewart.

From the Philadelphia Press.

This is the most happy and welcome determination of the matter that could be made. Gov. Pennypacker is to be cordially congratulated and commended on his public-spirited action. He has met an interesting, not to say delicate, situation in the best possible manner, and he has done it with grace, dignity and perception which deserve frank and full recognition. There were storm-clouds on the horizon; there were possibilities of a tempest in the outlook; but they have been fortunately dissipated in this judicious and acceptable conclusion.

JUVENILE COURT.

By DAVID B. HOWLAND.

Youthful Culprits Face Stern Judges.

Court habitues are hardly representative of the city population, and this is especially true at criminal sessions, which are generally attended by those who may have a friend in the dock or the aimless who are tired of their seats in public places and are seeking a change where they may occasionally find amusement. Morbid curiosity may attract a few, but the average trial is too monotonous to draw an audience of this class. But for the past two years a novelty in court practice has been in operation and it attracts a most cosmopolitan attendance from the well-dressed club woman, who sits behind the jury rail craning her neck to hear every word in the colloquy that goes on, when the probation officer, encircling her arm about the neck of the tow-headed, ragged and barefoot boy, leads him before the judge, to the mother from the slums who sits where she can occasionally whisper a word of sympathy or defiance to her son, seated among the little prisoners, all the while nursing her babe, who occasionally adds to the juvenile character of the assembly by a wail. Instead of the counsel at the table in front of the bar, a row of would-be Portias are seated, the recently-appointed agents fumbling their report blanks rather nervously in anticipation of being called in turn to face the judge. There appear to be two leaders at this table, who, seasoned by two years' experience, often move about the room to see one officer after another, apparently oblivious of the fact that the room is crowded with people. In one corner the officer has seated 30 boys and girls whom he brought from the detention room for an interview with the presiding judge. If it were not for the judge high up on the bench and the deputy sheriff preserving order from his throne on the side, one would hardly realize that there was to be a session of the court. But the crier soon settles that matter, and the little ones begin to fidget as silence is restored.

\+ \+ \+

How the Court Is Conducted.

The assistant district attorney stands in front of the judge and to his left, and taking a list of papers handed him by the clerk, calls a list of names. The first is probably that of the man who entered the complaint against the juvenile offender. Next come the parents and constable, while the boy accompanies the probation officer. "What is your report?" asks the judge, turning to the probation officer. She produces two blanks on which she has summarized the boy's story and the facts she has learned by personal investigation. Once the real facts were likely to be at variance with the child's version, but offenders are learning that it does not pay to tell fibs to the judge. The judge then asks a few questions of the constable who made the arrest, of the man who made the complaint and of the parents. All the cases have been before magistrates, who bound the children over to the court. Once a constable was made to look sheepishly around to see if there was a hole in the floor through which he could slide as the judge lashed him because of his ignorance in arresting a child for incorrigibility. For such an offense complaint must be made by the parent direct to the court, but formalities are dispensed with in the juvenile court and the constable found to his relief that his offense was forgotten, for the judge disposed of the case as if the complaint had been entered. "What do you recommend?" is the question always put to the probation officer who has visited the child's home and studied the records to learn the child's history. The sentence usually follows the recommendation of the probation officer, and in a minute the child is led away to give place to the next case. By this time the child's nerves have given away and he sobs aloud as he takes his seat. This may not mean that the sentence is severe, but is more likely to be due to the coming out of the courage which has been screwed up for the occasion.

Long List of Offenses.

It would surprise most people to learn how varied are the offenses charged, but the most common is that of vagrancy or incorrigibility. A little Austrian boy, 8 years old, was walked up to the dock. The charge was vagrancy. The probation officer reported that the boy's mother had died at sea while coming to this country. The boy was then 4 years old. His father, becoming insane by grief, committed suicide and another family had taken the waif. The $200 left for his support had been used and the boy was much on the street. The family did not care for him longer. "The Allegheny orphan asylum will care for him temporarily," said the probation officer, "and I will write the Austrian consul to see if we cannot learn of relatives in the old country to whom he can be returned." The disposition was approved.

Another case was a boy suffering from an unappreciative stepmother. His father had tried to prove him incorrigible, but the public school teachers testified that he was a model pupil. "Two dollars a week to support your son at Oakdale," had been the sentence imposed on the prosperous father. He had defaulted payment, so he was given another week to "make good" or go to prison. The Pennsylvania railroad complained of a boy because he stole coal. It was shown that his father was dead and his mother was a drunkard. He was committed to St. Paul's orphan asylum. Three boys arrested for breaking and entering with intent to commit felony, were found to have good homes, to which they were sent on probation. Four boys, ranging from 10 to 14, were brought in for malicious mischief in throwing rubbish into the melted glass where they worked and causing the company considerable expense. For this case the judge who had heard them before was called. He talked sternly to them and on the promise of the parents to see that they would not repeat the offense, they were released.

While a majority of the cases were for light offenses there were crimes that revealed almost inconceivable rottenness and whose details could scarcely be repeated in court. An 11-year-old girl, whose brazen face was surrounded by an enormous mass of curls, arranged for affectation, had been arrested in the rear of a theater. It did not take the judge long to say "Morganza" when he heard the case. A diminutive colored girl hobbled up to the bar. Her story was not repeated in court. "The county will pay $4 a week for her care in a colored family," said the probation officer. This was ordered. This seemed a large sum, but it was explained that she had been assaulted and needed medical attention. A girl of 15 that had been taken from a disorderly house was sent to an institution. Only after a long search was she found and her mother consented to have her taken to a home for the fallen.

History of the Organization.

Such are the cases before the juvenile court. The institution was made possible only by the persistent work of the women.

The court has been in operation two years, and in that time it has won the sympathy and approval of all who have dealings with it. But to a sympathetic person it is rather pathetic to see a flock of ragged children, some of them barefoot and many of them with apologies for homes, or no homes at all, led into court. "Friday afternoon is the most depressing period of the week for me," said the assistant district attorney, who conducts the cases. "But I thoroughly believe in the court, and am entirely in sympathy with its operation."

Putting Roses Into Mourning.

A peddler in Georgia has developed a coal black rose which he calls the "Mourning Rose," and from whose cultivation he expects to reap a fortune. But, while natural curiosities always attract in a way, it is not likely that the world as a whole is going to hail the idea of putting Nature's loveliest product into mourning unless it be for its own folly.—Baltimore American.

STATE GLEANINGS

Trip of Carrier Pigeons.

Pigeons belonging to Thomas Anderton and Max Jacobs of Oil City, which were started from Corydon Junction, Indiana, at an early hour Sunday morning, arrived home about 6 o'clock last evening, having covered the distance of 401 miles in record-breaking time. The birds were liberated by the agent of the Southern Express Company at Croydon Junction at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, the weather being calm at that place, and the four leading birds arrived at 6:06 last evening. Two of the first to arrive belonged to Mr. Jacobs and two to Mr. Anderton, those of the former being called Togo and Red Prince and the latter Duke and Maxy. The speed of the birds was 934 yards per minute.—Venango Citizen-Press.

Old Coin Collection.

Among the belongings of his father, the late Peter Sipe, H. L. Sipe, of Somerset, recently resurrected about $100 worth of old coins, several of which he carries for pocket pieces. One of these is a foreign copper piece of the coinage of 1775, and he has two American pennies coined in 1797 and 1798. Mr. Sipe says he will send all of the coins to a New York clearance house, where they will be sold. Josiah Keller of West Main street, is the possessor of a silver dollar coined in 1795, and it is in as good preservation as if it had come from the mint but a few years ago. He secured the coin some years ago and prizes it far above its intrinsic value.—Somerset Standard.

The Tent Disappeared.

John Ayers of North Jefferson street, bought his little son, David, a handsome lawn tent last month and had it erected on the lawn in the rear of the lot.

David was tickled and spent most of his time under the new canopy. Yesterday morning when the master of the Ayers residence went out to his newly found amusement it had disappeared. Some one had come in the night and confiscated the much used playhouse. No clue was left to trace the pilferer.—Kittanning News.

Found Good Fishing.

Hon. William E. Champaign caught some fine trout in Pine creek last week near Four-mile run. Among the many large ones taken with the fly was a California trout 17¼ inches in length. We learn that Weisner of Lestonia, late on Thursday night caught in Slate-run a California trout which, by actual measurement was 21¾ inches in length.—Wellston Agitator.

Where the Chickens Went.

Quite an excitement Sunday evening, a mink has been eating all our landlady, Mrs. Woodring's young chickens and Sunday evening they saw it going into the sewer pipe that runs across the street. Geo. got a long pole and Mr. Ross' dog and all the people gathered around to see the dog get the mink, it was soon captured.—Bellefonte Republican.

His Gun Is Loaded.

When a few relatives and friends are collected the wedding evening quietly congratulating the bride and groom, it appears like an outrage to have the whole youthful population, with hammers, saws, cow-bells and other implements of torture trying to start a miniature boiler factory, but a word to the wise is sufficient.—Meyersdale Commercial.

The Deadly Serenade.

Some Butler boys serenaded a newly married couple too vigorously last Thursday evening, upon their return home. The serenade startled a woman living near, who was a sufferer from heart trouble, and she fell dead.—Butler Citizen.

Part of the Decoration.

In writing up our account of the Decoration day services, we neglected to state that Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Craig decorated their home in Deckertown with a brand new son, W. Allen Craig, Jr.—Johnsonburg Press.

Prehistoric Remains in Germany.

In the course of excavations in the neighborhood of Breslau, Germany, 400 graves and 150 prehistoric dwelling places have been brought to light. The oldest of the graves contained bones dating from a period previous to the bronze age, and in another grave near by were found urns showing that they had contained bodies interred five centuries later. The excavators have been able to trace the site of a village of the bronze age. About a dozen huts are clearly recognizable. A whole collection of spinning and weaving machines has also been dug up.

BIG RAILWAY PLAN FOR PHILIPPINES

Secretary Taft's Invitation for Proposals for Construction Is Made Public.

GUARANTEE AS TO OUTLAWS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The war department has made public the invitation signed by Secretary Taft for proposals for the construction of railways in the Philippines, under the act of congress passed in February for that purpose. An elaborate scheme of transportation is involved. The Philippine government agrees to protect all grantees against ladrones, insurgents, rebels and outlaws. One-half of one per cent from the gross earnings is to be paid to the Philippine government as taxes. The prospectus cites the provisions of the law guaranteeing interest for 30 years of four per cent on first lien bonds, but it is provided that not more than $1,200,000 shall be paid interest in any one year.

Bids will be received only from individual citizens or co-partnership of the United States or of the Philippines, or from railroad corporations organized and existing under the laws of a state or the United States, or the Philippines. The lines to be constructed are as follows:

From Dagupan in the province of Pangasinan, to Laog, in the province of Ilocos Norte, approximately 168 miles; from San Fabian, on the Lingayen gulf, via Twin Peaks and the canyon of the Bued river to Beguio, with the option of continuing to Trinidad in the province of Benguet, approximately 55 miles; from Dagupan, or Cabanatuan, in Nuevaecijat province, or from any point between Cabanatuan and Dagupan having railway connection with Manila, extending northerly through the Caraballo pass and down the valley of the Cagayan river to Aparri, 200 miles; from Manila northward to connect with these lines to Laog, Benguet and Aparri, 129 miles.

From Manila to Batangas, on the bay of Batangas, approximately 70 miles in length, with a line from Calamba, in the province of Laguna, to Santa Cruz, 25 miles; and another from Lipa or other convenient junction in Batangas to Lucena, province of Tayabas, 35 miles, making a total of 130 miles; from Pasacao, on the gulf of Pasacao, to Ligua, province of Albay, with a line from Ligua to Tabaco and across the island of Cacraray to the harbor of Batan, and with the main line extending to Legaspi, on the gulf of Albay, all approximately 100 miles; from Iloilo in a northerly direction forking to Capiz and Bataan, on the north coast of the island of Panay, approximately 100 miles; on the island of Cebu, running north from the city of Cebu to Danao, on the east coast, and south from Cebu to Argao, on the east coast, with the option of a line across from Carcar or Sibonga to the west coast, and thence along the coast between Dumanjug and Barili, 26 miles in all; on the island of Leyte one part westerly from Tacloban to Carigara, the other southerly from Tacloban to Abuyog, 55 miles; and on the island of Samar from Wright, formerly called Parnas, on the west coast, to San Julian, on the east coast, 50 miles.

Provision is made for the acquisition of the railroad from Manila to Dagupan, now in operation, if satisfactory arrangements with that road can be made.

CLAIMS HE BOUGHT STOCK UNDER MISREPRESENTATION

Pittsburgher in Suit to Recover Money Paid for Interest in a Coal and Iron Company.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 11.—August Heckscher, well known in this city as a director in many corporations, whose country place is at Hutington, L. I., is suing William Edenborn in the Suffolk county court for the recovery of about $190,000, which he asserts he and six others were induced by Mr. Edenborn to invest in the stock of the United States Coal and Iron Company of Tennessee. Judgment is also asked for about $35,000 interest. Mr. Edenborn is a vice president and director of the United States Steel Corporation.

Litigation has been going on for several months over the money in question, but delay has been caused by Mr. Edenborn's success in shifting the case from one court to another.

Mr. Heckscher in his complaint against Mr. Edenborn asserts that he and his associates were induced to buy stock in the Coal and Iron company because Mr. Edenborn misrepresented the condition of ownership of the stock. He says Mr. Edenborn owned more than one-half the entire stock, and that he should have made this fact known, as the effect of the sale was practically to unload the company upon him and his friends. Mr. Heckscher's friends, who are named as claimants with him in the action, are: Frederick H. Daniels of Worcester, Mass., Charles L. Miller of Pittsburgh, Edward Lott and William Frank Baakes of Chicago and Michael Baakes of Germany.

GOV. PENNYPACKER SPEAKS AT "FEAST OF ROSES"

Ceremony Attracts Large Crowds to Manheim—Altar Is Piled High With Flowers.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

YORK, June 11.—Dr. J. H. Seiling of this city, had charge of the "Feast of the Roses" in Zion Lutheran church at Manheim today. A feature was the Sunday school convention. The principal address was made by Gov. Pennypacker. The address incidental to the payment of the rose as the rental for the church, was by Seth L. Kinsey of York. The rose was accepted on behalf of the heirs of Baron Stiegel by the Hon. Daniel F. Lafean of this city. Each person who entered the church carried a red rose. These roses were cast upon the altar until there was a great bank of the beautiful blossoms. Children's day services also were held.

As upon former occasions the "Feast of the Roses" attracted hundreds to the quaint town. Many went by trolley from York, Columbia and other towns. A large party of York people made the journey in automobiles. Baron Stiegel, founder of Manheim, was one of the early iron masters of Pennsylvania, and was the first glass manufacturer in the United States. He gave the site for the church on condition that each member pay a rental of one red rose.

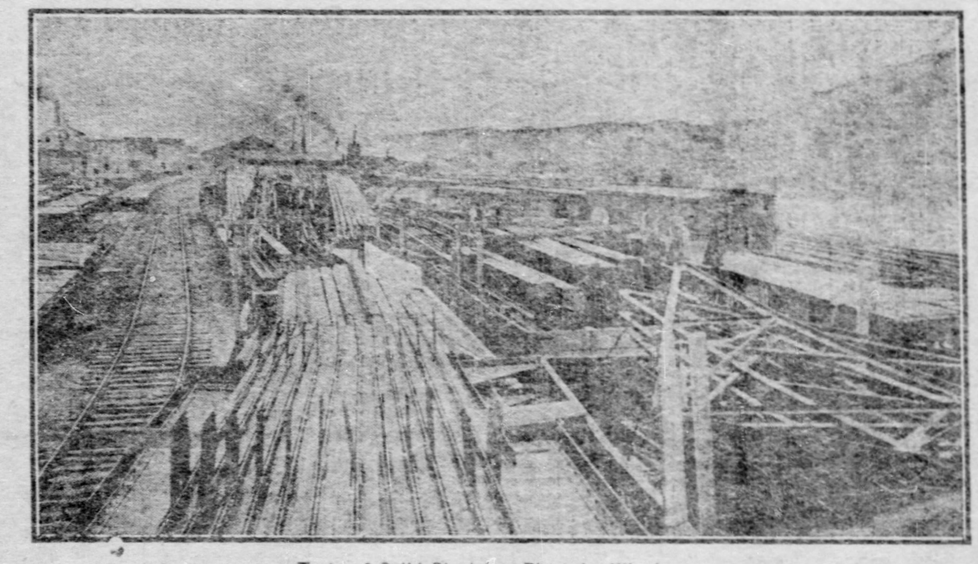
McCLINTIC-MARSHALL CONSTRUCTION COMPANY SENDS 50 CARS OF STEEL FOR ILLINOIS PLANT



Train of Solid Steel for Plant in Illinois.

The McClintic-Marshall Construction Company shipped from their works at Rankin Saturday a solid train of 50 cars, loaded with structural steel, to be used in erecting a car shop for the American Car and Foundry Company at Madison, Ill. The car shop will be 150x900 feet and will be under roof by July 10, just 90 days after the contract for the building was let to the McClintic-Marshall Company. The building would have been completed in 60 days but for a delay of more than a month, experienced in getting the steel from the mills.

The train hauling the steel from the Rankin works is to be run through the entire distance as a special, going over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, Erie and Lake Erie & Western railroads. The material will be delivered on the ground at Madison early this morning, in time for the erecting force to commence work on it.

The McClintic-Marshall Company is being congratulated on the remarkable time in which the huge steel beams, girders and shapes were completed and shipped, and the company is confident it will be able to complete the building in even less time than is expected. The Rankin plant has an annual capacity of 120,000 tons, which is soon to be increased, as work has commenced on the erection of a number of new additions which will nearly double the capacity.

GREATER IMPORTS FOR PITTSBURGH

Incoming Raw Material for Iron Production the Heaviest for Two Years.

LARGE CUBAN CONTRIBUTION

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, June 11.

While the magnitude of the exports of various finished iron and steel material made in Pittsburgh and vicinity last month constituted a record, the May imports of iron ore, manganese ore, chrome ore and pig iron, chiefly brought in on Pittsburgh account, were the heaviest for nearly two years past.

The iron ore coming in represented 90,197 tons, against 23,790 tons for May, 1904. Manganese imports footed up a total of 33,489 tons, the biggest on record. Three thousand eight hundred and ninety-two tons of chrome were shipped here. The pig iron imports aggregated 32,459 tons. During the same month of last year only about 2,000 tons came in.

In all upward of 140,000 tons of iron ore and other material before enumerated, arrived here from various foreign countries last month.

From Daiquiri, Cuba, 50,718 tons of iron ore were shipped, while Santiago de Cuba sent 11,800 tons. Nine thousand four hundred and ninety-two tons came in from Garrucha, Carthagena sent 4,675 tons, Porman 5,500 tons, Huelva 2,657 tons and Sydney, Cape Breton, 2,200 tons.

Sixteen thousand eight hundred tons of manganese ore arrived from Rio de Janeiro and 16,359 tons came in from Bombay and other British Indian ports. From Liverpool ore shipments of 450 tons were sent here.

The chrome ore imports came from New Caledonia principally, 2,262 tons arriving from that part of the world. Six hundred and thirty tons were also imported from Liverpool.

The abnormal pig iron imports during May came mainly from Middlesboro, from which English point 7,720 tons were forwarded. Four thousand nine hundred and twenty-three tons were sent by Wales. Rotterdam shipped one lot of 3,322 tons. The balance was sent chiefly from Liverpool.

FALLS SIXTY-FIVE FEET THROUGH STEAMER FUNNEL

Fireman on an Atlantic Liner Has Unusual Accident at Sea With Serious Results.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 11.—Losing his hold on the brass rim of a ventilator that he was polishing as the ship lurched, Johann Mahnert, a fireman on the Hamburg-American liner Moltke, shot down the huge funnel, feet first, and landed on the engine platform, 65 feet below, when the steamship was four days out. When the ship arrived today Mahnert was removed to the German hospital, with both legs fractured. Although surgical help had been given at once after the accident, it is feared that one of his legs will have to be amputated.

The ship's surgeon, Dr. W. Hornsann, found that Mahnert had literally splintered several bones by the force of the blow as he landed squarely on his feet. Together with Dr. E. Mayrie of the ship, and Dr. Newton B. Waller, a passenger, the splintered bones were set, while Capt. Reesing ordered the ship to be slowed down during the delicate operation.

Several passengers made up a purse for the unfortunate man to enable him to obtain helpful luxuries during his convalescence. Capt. Reesing said that during his seafaring life although men had been lost overboard and other fatal accidents had occurred, it was the first time that he had ever recorded such a singular accident.

OLD MEN REBEL AT NEW RATES

Increase in Price of Royal Arcanum Insurance Results in Dissatisfaction.

GOES INTO EFFECT OCTOBER 1

Several thousand members of the Royal Arcanum in Allegheny county are discussing the new life insurance rates which will go into effect on October 1. There is an increase in the cost of insurance for all members, but those hit hardest are men who are 60 years old and upwards. The rates were adopted by the supreme council. It is the lawmaking body of the order and there is no appeal from its statutes. Therefore, while it is probable that some councils in Allegheny county and many throughout the country will protest against the new rates, their protest will have no effect, for the supreme council will not reconsider its action.

The Royal Arcanum was founded 28 years ago. It and other fraternal bodies established about the same time, had nothing but the statistics of the old-line life insurance companies to go by, and a study of these had convinced the promoters that life insurance rates were too high. In voicing their protest against the prevailing life insurance rates they swung to the other extreme, charging rates which, experience has demonstrated, were far too low. Consequently it became necessary to revise the rate if the fraternal societies expected to secure new and young members. Consequently the Royal Arcanum is only following out the plan which other orders found forced upon them.

The objectors to the new rates are the men who have been in the order many years, some since its very inception. They declare it to be hard, after they have paid in their money for so long, for the rates to be increased in their old age.

Plans Under New Rates.

There are five plans of insurance under the new rates. By the system called the "regular rate," the monthly payments increase in regular ratio, as the insured grows older; by options A, B, C and D the insured, from the time he enters the order, pays a higher rate, which rate then remains the same throughout life. For example, under the regular rate the insured, at 21 years of age, pays 83 cents a month for every $1,000 of insurance; the payments increase every year until, at the age of 85, the insured is paying $5.53 a month for each $1,000 insurance. Under option A the insured who is 21 years pays 81 cents a month for each $1,000 insurance and after the age of 65 he still pays only 81 cents a month.

The man who elects to take the regular rate is enabled to drop out at any time after having paid out the minimum amount of money for insurance. For example, after he has reached a certain age his children may be grown up or his circumstances may be such that there is no need for insurance money for his family after his death. By that time he will be paying a high rate, comparatively speaking, and by dropping out he will be relieved of further payments, while for the years that have elapsed he will have had insurance protection for more than one-third less than the old line life insurance companies would have charged him.

Thinks Rates Are Fair.

Attorney Joseph A. Langfitt, supreme past regent of the order, said yesterday that the new rates were fair; that while they might seem hard to elderly men, yet the fact remained that even under the new rates they will pay far less than old line life insurance would cost them. It is estimated that 10,000 out of the 515,000 members of the Royal Arcanum may feel hard hit by the new rates.

"Even under the new rates the young men shoulder much of the burden of the older men," said Mr. Langfitt. "They pay a proportion of what the older men ought to pay, not enough to make it burdensome on the young men, but enough to relieve the older men materially. The order has a $2,000,000 emergency fund. That fund has been contributed by the younger men, yet, mathematically, we have applied it to the benefit of the older men. If the fund did not exist the rates for older men would have to be higher than the cost under the new rate.

"The question of revising the rates was suggested nine years ago. A committee worked on them for five years; the best advice was taken on the subject and consultations were held with the best old line experts. Twenty-two clerks worked a year and a half on the rates. The new rates are fair and provide insurance for far less than the old line life insurance companies do."

This is the new "regular rate" table:

"GOD PITY THE EDITORS."

Indian Agent Wires the Interior Department That but One Old Buffalo Will Be Killed for Newspapermen.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Secretary Hitchcock has received the following dispatch from Supt. Noble, in charge of the Ponca Indian agency, Oklahoma:

"Replying to your telegram of today, respectfully advise that no buffalo of any description will be slaughtered at the celebration tomorrow in honor of National Editorial association on Ponca tribal or leased lands by Miller Brothers, nor will any inhuman or objectionable act be permitted. Prior to the receipt of your telegram this evening Joe Miller had killed one old male buffalo on land owned by himself, the meat of which he proposes to serve to the editors. God pity the editors. No more buffalo will be killed whatsoever, as the Millers propose to raise a large herd on their ranch."

AMERICAN TRADE GROWS IN CANADA

Increased Consumption of United States Products Continues in the Dominion.

UNCLE SAM'S GOODS POPULAR

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.

Canada's increasing consumption of products of the United States continues to be a notable feature of American commerce. Figures just compiled by the department of commerce and labor, through its bureau of statistics, show that exports from the United States to the Dominion of Canada grew from $61,903,579 in the 10 months ending with April, 1897, to $104,155,836 in the 10 months ending with April, 1904, and to $114,943,079 in the corresponding period of 1905. The increase here noted is but a continuation of the growth which, with trifling exceptions, has characterized our trade with Canada since 1870. During the period from 1855 to 1865 a reciprocity treaty was in operation between the United States and Canada; from 1867 to 1897 commerce between the two countries was unaffected by special trade arrangements; from April, 1897, to August, 1898, the United States was placed at a slight disadvantage as compared with the United Kingdom, products from that country entering the Dominion of Canada being admitted at a reduction of 12½ per cent, as compared with the duties charged on importations from the United States. On August 1, 1898, this reduction in favor of the United Kingdom was increased to 25 per cent, and on July 1, 1900, was still further increased to 33 1-3 per cent.

The popularity of American goods, however, in conjunction with the advantages of contiguity, has served to maintain and even increase the volume of exports from the United States to Canada, despite the varying conditions to which our trade with that country has been subjected. In the fiscal year 1855, the first year of reciprocity with Canada, our exports to that country were $27,741,808 in value; in 1866, the closing year of the reciprocity period, $24,828,880. In 1897, the year which inaugurated the policy by which Great Britain and certain of her colonies were given the benefit of a special reduction in duties charged upon importations into Canada, our exports to that country were $84,228,821, and each succeeding year has shown an increase, the total in 1904 having been $114,274,346, while for the present fiscal year, should May and June equal the record made by April last, the total will be in excess of $140,000,000.

Meanwhile imports into the United States from Canada have also grown, though at a much slower pace. For the fiscal year 1855 the total value of imports was $15,118,259; in 1876, $27,867,615; in 1895, $36,574,327; in 1904, $51,406,265, and for the present year, estimating May and June upon the basis of the figures of April last, the total will be about $87,000,000. Thus, both as regards imports and exports, our trade with Canada in the present fiscal year has broken all previous records.

The values of the principal articles imported into the United States from Canada during the 10 months ending with April, 1905, were: Boards and other sawed lumber, $8,000,000; coal, bituminous, $2,500,000; copper pigs, bars, etc., $2,500,000; wood pulp, $2,200,000; hides and skins, $2,100,000; copper ore, matte and regulus, $1,125,000; and furs and skins, undressed, $1,000,000. Other important items, importations of which were less than $1,000,000 each, were horses, tea, art works, combing wool, leaf tobacco, distilled spirits and flax.

STARTLED BY SHOTS.

River Excursionists Excited by Sound of Firing While Passing the Penitentiary.

While passing the Western Penitentiary in Woods Run, Allegheny, about 11:30 o'clock last night, passengers on a river excursion steamer were suddenly startled by hearing the sound of shots being fired in rapid succession from the vicinity of the penitentiary. Owing to the darkness the people on the boat were unable to see the penitentiary and the boat was stopped, as it was thought an attempt was being made by prisoners to escape.

About half a dozen shots were fired and the disturbance caused considerable excitement on board the boat. Shortly after the shooting the Allegheny police were notified and officers found an intoxicated Italian practising with an old revolver on the river bank near the penitentiary. At the Woods Run police station he gave his name as G. Christopher. He was locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Machinery for Distant Mines.

Milton W. Blumenberg of New York, who has just returned from the territory of the United States and Nicaragua Company in Central America, where he was engaged on a special mission, is at the Hotel Lincoln. The company has extensive mines in the old isthmian canal field in Nicaragua, and Mr. Blumenberg has stopped in Pittsburgh to purchase machinery. The extent of his contracts, he said, has not been determined.

Railroader Goes to Jail.

Edward Braum, a railroader, was sent to jail by Justice Ira N. Fix of East Pittsburgh, on charges of housebreaking and robbery made by A. Bennett. Brum is held in default of $2,000 bail for trial at court.

NEW JOBS TO PAY POLITICAL DEBTS

Two Lawyers Picked to Prepare City Digest and Other Places Created.

COMMON COUNCIL TO BE BUSY

To give a couple of attorneys fat jobs in payment for political services to the Citizens party, the city administration proposes to compile a new digest of municipal law, although the probable consolidation of Pittsburgh and Allegheny in less than a year is expected to nullify many of the laws of Pittsburgh now on the statute books.

An ordinance will be reported to common council tonight out of the finance committee, appropriating $7,500 for a new city digest and authorizing the appointment by the mayor of a temporary assistant city solicitor to prepare the digest. Two lawyers for this job were selected a couple of months ago. They are Robert McElroy of the Twentieth ward and W. G. Negley of the Fourteenth ward.

The ordinance will be opposed in common council tonight on the ground that a new city digest should be postponed until after Allegheny is annexed to Pittsburgh and it is decided what laws shall remain on the statute books for the government of the greater city.

Changes will be necessary to conform to both sections. These changes will probably be brought about by new legislation by councils. Some councilmen regard a new digest this year as extravagant. It is stated that the work on the digest will last about two years, and for this reason the administration plans to give the job to lawyers in the Citizens party ranks before a new administration comes in.

Two other ordinances creating new jobs come up in common council. One is to pay $1,500 additional to the city auditor for taking charge of collections which the administration claims it is going to make from the public service corporations. Another ordinance creates a new position of draughtsman at $1,200 a year in the office of the assessors.

The ordinance authorizing the lease of the Diamond market house site to a company for 99 years and an ordinance authorizing the vacation of a nine-foot strip of land in Forty-second street are among the most important measures to be considered by the lower branch. Both of these bills will be reported from committees with negative recommendations.

Select council is called to meet in the afternoon, but there is no business before that body and a quorum is doubtful.

MAY VACATE ADAMS MARKET.

Abutting Property Owners Will Present Petition to City Councils.

Property owners along Fourteenth street, between Penn and Liberty avenues, are preparing a petition to councils to vacate the old Adams market, which has been practically abandoned for years. There is now only one butcher's stall in the market and the expense of maintaining the market exceeds the rental from this stall.

The ground for the market was donated long ago by the Adams estate, which owned the property on both sides of the street. If the market is vacated the ground will revert to the abutting property. The Adams heirs are said to have signed the petition for the vacation.

Nixon's Light Opera Season.

Tonight inaugurates the Nixon's light opera season with the first presentation in Pittsburgh of Stange & Edwards' comic opera, "When Johnny Comes Marching Home." It is the first time in the history of Pittsburgh amusements that an earnest effort has been made to provide during the summer weeks entertainment that will equal any and surpass many of the recognized high-priced attractions offered during the regular theatrical season, and this at prices usually demanded by the ordinary thriller in popular theaters.

Jennie Meyers Demands Protection.

A woman who said her name was Jennie Meyers went to the Forty-third street police station yesterday with a demand for protection. She was mentally deranged and was detained until Dr. A. P. McCandless was summoned. Under his orders she was sent to St. Francis hospital. She refused to give her address or any information about herself other than that she was 25 years old. It is thought her condition is due to heavy drinking.

Now is the best time for three things—to have your Furs altered, repaired and stored.

We do all and do them well.

Seals are away up in price and will be very much higher.

We bought the Skins early and are in position to name prices for new garments that will be of great interest.

Have a competent designer, cutter and fitter in charge and a corps of experienced fur makers, and to keep all employed will take orders for new garments or do repair work for less now than in busy season.

Fur styles for next season are established and several of the best New York houses are out for Fall business—and we were astonished at the prices they asked for Seal garments.

Persian Lamb Skins—stock of these is owned on a very favorable basis and will make to order, for the present, Coats at $100.00 and upwards.

CHICAGO, June 11.—Reulbach's great pitching, his own clever fielding, with almost perfect support, and three fast double plays, shut New York out today. CHANGE MADE ON CARD OF PROFESSIONAL MEETING

A change has been made in the program of the professional trotting meeting to be held at Brunots Island July 4. Instead of a 2:24 trotting class, a 2:20 class has been substituted, as requests were made for faster class from owners of fast steppers around Pittsburgh.

The other classes are: 2:15 pace, free-for-all pace and free-for-all trot. In the free-for-alls, the fastest trotters and pacers in the country will be entered. In the trot it is expected that Dr. Strong, 2:07¼, will be one of the starters. Others, in the trot will likely be Billy Buck, 2:07¼; Redwood, Mary D., Robin C. and Uncle William. In the free-for-all pace will be Terrace Queen, Frank Wilson, Lady May and Sufreet.

INDEPENDENT BASEBALL NEWS

Earl Russell, a former Mercersburg academy boy, will pitch the opening game for the Interscholastic nine this afternoon at McKeesport. The Interscholastics will begin their season without having played together, but the men, however, are in good shape, all being members of different school nines. The team will leave at 1 o'clock for McKeesport.

Dick Cosgrave writes that there is nothing in the report that he and his brother, Wallace Cosgrave, are operating a ball team at Plattsburg, N. Y. The Cosgraves are in the electric construction business in New York.

McKeesport is dickering with players who are expected to strengthen the team.

Russell of the Youngwood team is pitching good ball and looks like a comer. He is worthy of a trial on any good independent team.

Karl Heinz, the local boy, is pitching good ball for Waco and is regarded as one of the pitching finds of the season in the Texas State league.

Pitcher "Scrabbles" Diebold is home from the Lonaconing (Md.) team.

"Red" Smith is no longer on the pitching staff of the Turtle Creek Athletics.

Ben Montgomery is expected home today from the Boone (Iowa) State league club to join the Waynesburg team this week, of which his brother Milt is field boss. The younger Montgomery is a fine catcher, and with Tommy Murray of Pittsburgh college Waynesburg will be well fortified behind the bat.

The Shaners of the West End are playing good ball and rapidly coming to the front as one of the leading teams in this part of the country.

Braddock fans are trying to keep Pitcher Andy Brookmiller at home. He may decide to stay away from Detroit for some time at least.

Berlin leads the Somerset county league with five straight victories. Love, a Gallitzin boy, is doing good work in the box for the boys who represent the highest located borough in Pennsylvania.

ALUMNI DESIRES TO AID ATHLETICS

Former Pittsburgh High School Students Willing to Help Along the Boys.

Pittsburgh High school alumni desire to have a voice in the shaping of the high school athletic policy in the future. Certain former High school athletes have approached George W. Gosser, chairman of the High school athletic association, bringing the matter before him. Gosser thinks well of the plan, and it is expected that in the near future the alumni will begin to work in conjunction with the athletic committees.

The foot ball schedule for the Hill school has been announced as follows: September 30, Banks Business college; October 7, Hill Alumni at Yale; October 14, Haverford Grammar school at Haverford; October 13, Princeton Freshmen; October 21, Penn Charter; October 28, Ursinus College Freshmen; October 27, Hotchkiss school; November 4, Princeton Preparatory school; November 11, Lawrenceville Academy at Lawrenceville.

FINASSEUR WINS.

Nash Turner Brings His Mount In First in Grand Prix.

PARIS, June 11.—The Grand Prix of 140,000 was won easily at Longchamp today by Michel Ephrussi's Finasseur, with Nash Turner, the American jockey, up. The betting was 7 to 2 against Finasseur. Nine horses ran. The sport lost considerable interest owing to the breaking down of a number of prominent horses, but the great event, which virtually concluded the Paris racing season, attracted a brilliant assemblage.

President and Mme. Loubat, escorted by several squadrons of cuirassiers, were present, as were Mr. McCormick, the American ambassador, and Mrs. McCormick, with a party.

CURLEY BLOUNT.

WAR CLOUDS APPEAR IN THE TRI-STATE RANKS

Harrisburg Will Fight Move to Keep Calhoun and Hamilton Out of the Game.

War seems imminent in the Tri-State. Harrisburg has sounded the war clarion because President Creamer issued an edict that Calhoun and Hamilton shall stay out of the game for specified periods for scrapping with the umpires. Harrisburg has replied that these players will take part in the game today at Williamsport, and Creamer very promptly replied that they will not.

Harrisburg is fighting hard for the championship, and is not many points behind the champion York aggregation. It will not allow two of its best men to sit on the bench at a time when they are most needed without offering strong resistance. The standing of the teams follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.		W.	L.	Pct.
York	28	13	.667	Johnstown	19	18	.514
Harrisburg	24	14	.632	Altoona	19	19	.500
Coatesville	24	17	.585	Lancaster	14	26	.350
Williamspt	21	16	.568	Wilm'ton	8	31	.205

SCHEDULE FOR TODAY.
Harrisburg at Williamport.
Coatesville at York.
Lancaster at Wilmington.
Altoona at Johnstown.

ABOUT THE PLAYERS.

The rivalry between Altoona and Johnstown is just as keen now as it was when the season started. There will be many battles royal between these neighbors. An encouraging feature about the rivalry is that it is free from all bitterness, which, unfortunately, has not always been the case.

Pitcher Bressler of Williamsport has been advised by a Philadelphia specialist not to attempt to play this season.

Lobert and Badel are conceded to be two of the fastest men getting to first on the circuit.

Martin Glendon, the crack pitcher last year with Columbus in the American association, and this year with New Orleans in the Southern league, and Arthur Anderson, the Wheeling catcher who was with Little Rock last season and who refused to report to the Detroit American this spring, joined the Johnstown club last evening. This will give the Johnstown club four first-class pitchers and two catchers.

"Hans" Lobert, the Beltshoover boy with Johnstown, yesterday received a most tempting offer from Des Moines, but he turned it down.

Mickey Finn of Toledo was in Altoona Saturday looking over the work of the Altoona and Johnstown teams. He made overtures to several of the players, but did not succeed in landing any of them.

Fights in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—(Special.)—The wind-up between George Cole and Jack Blackburn at the National Athletic club last night was rather a disappointment. There was little action until the middle of the sixth round, and then it was too late for either boy to do anything decisive. At the finish it was even money and take your pick.

The Richmond A. C. opened under new management last night, and a record breaking crowd turned out to see the bouts. In the wind-up Tommy O'Toole was defeated by "Kid" Hogan. The men fought very fast, and O'Toole came near being knocked out in the fourth round. "Young" Nixie defeated "Young" Kilpatrick in the semi-wind-up, the latter being groggy at the end of the sixth round.

Eastern League Results.

Starrow and Heggins, Veterans, May Aid in the Coaching of Harvard Oarsmen.

YALE SQUAD HAD IDLE DAY

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW LONDON, CONN., June 11.—Yale's rowing squad spent the entire day lounging about quarters, with the exception of a few who boarded the launch and attended services in the churches here. Tomorrow morning Coach Kennedy will have all the crews on the river and continue rounding them into form for the respective races with Harvard on the 24th inst.

The Crimson oarsmen will arrive at Red Top about 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and the launch John Harvard and racing shells have all preceded the crews and a large force of cooks and waiters, under the direction of Steward Phelps, have also arrived from Cambridge.

It is reported in Yale's camp that the veteran coaches, Starrow and Higgins, will take a hand in the coaching when the crews arrive at Red Top and every endeavor will be made to overcome the "stage fright" which apparently came over the varsity eight when they lined up with Cornell on the Charles recently. The portable house used last year as sleeping quarters for the varsity crews has been converted into a miniature railway station.

TAKE OFFERING FOR LOCAL WORK

Presbyterian Sunday Schools Ignore Board of Publication on Children's Day.

THEY HOLD SPECIAL EXERCISES

An innovation which will cost the Presbyterian Board of Publication in the neighborhood of $1,000 was introduced in all Presbyterian Sunday schools of the presbyteries of Allegheny and Pittsburgh yesterday at the annual Children's day celebration, when the announcement was made that the collection would this year be applied to the proposed new printing house of the two local presbyteries.

For nearly a century the Sunday schools of this district have made an annual donation to the board of publication, which has its headquarters in Philadelphia. Last year, on Children's day, over $6,000 was raised and forwarded.

There has been much strife between the publication board and the two local presbyteries, because the latter have contended they have never received any return for their donation, which is the larger than that of any other section of similar size in America. What the local presbyteries wanted was literature printed in the native tongue for distribution among the foreign classes in this district. Local presbyteries were willing to make additional payment for the material, but did not succeed in attaining their desires. The recent meeting of the general assembly of the church took up the trouble, but merely offered its best wishes for the early realization of harmony.

Already Preparing to Print.

The collections of yesterday are expected to total at least $7,000. The exact figures will not be known for several days. The joint committee of the Allegheny and Pittsburgh presbyteries have already purchased a printing press and engaged an editor for a Bohemian paper. Papers and literature in other tongues will soon follow and several sites for the new printing house are under consideration.

It is not believed that the board of publication will allow the collection of yesterday to slip from it without remonstrance, and in view of the fact that many neighboring and even distant presbyteries have agreed to patronize the new printing house by applying some of their collections for the purchase of foreign literature, the controversy threatens to become serious.

While members of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny presbyteries are inclined to regard themselves in carrying out their fixed program and are leaving future events to care for themselves, opinion is divided as to whether the breach will result in Pittsburgh being the headquarters for the board of publication, or whether the board will be so reorganized as to give Pittsburgh important representation.

Special services of song, music and recitation with appropriate addresses by the pastors, marked the observation of Children's day in churches of the Presbyterian, United Presbyterian, Methodist Episcopal, Protestant Episcopal and Baptist denominations. In almost every instance special collections were taken for special purposes, usually the work of home missions.

The Second Presbyterian church, Eighth street, was decorated with wild flowers and an interesting program carried out, the feature of which was the leading in singing by Elder Daniel Cooper, who has been associated with the Sunday school for 50 years.

Collections in the Baptist churches were turned over to the home mission fund. The Fourth Avenue church Sunday school contributed over $600, while the Sunday school of the Shady Avenue Baptist church gave an offering of over $300.

TELLS PUPILS TO APPLY RULES OF JAPANESE ARMY

The Rev. Dr. Pascal Harrower of New York Says That Followers Will Lead Noble Lives.

That the "yellow peril" has lost much of its repulsiveness was illustrated yesterday afternoon during the Sunday school institute of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church, held in Trinity church, Sixth avenue, when the Rev. Dr. Pascal Harrower of New York, in addressing 700 children representing 40 Sunday schools, invited them to live up to the rules of the Japanese army if they would live noble lives. "They are the finest set of rules for your lives, that I have ever read," he added.

Dr. Harrower explained that these rules, seven in number, are read each morning immediately after assembly, by the captain of each company to his men whether at war or during peace. The rules are as follows:

To be sincere and loyal, and guard against untruthfulness.

To respect superiors and be true to commands, and guard against lawlessness and insolence.

To obey the command of superiors irrespective of its nature, and never to resist or disregard it.

To prize bravery and courage, and be diligent in performance of duty, and guard against cowardice and timidity.

To boast not of brutal courage and neither quarrel with nor insult others, which will incite general hatred.

To cultivate virtue and practice frugality, and guard against extravagance and effeminancy.

To prize reputation and honor, and guard against vulgarity and greed.

Last evening Dr. Harrower addressed the St. Barnabas Guild for Nurses, the occasion being the feast of St. Barnabas. At both services short addresses were made by the rector, the Rev. Dr. A. W. Arundel.

BROTHERS GO TO BUY HAT, BUT THE PRICE COMES HIGH

Marock and Andy Bloski paid dearly for a new hat yesterday. They are brothers and live at 2839 Edwards alley. On Saturday night Marock decided to buy a new hat, and Andy went along. At Hyman Robfogel's store they found a hat that suited him, and leaving his old one, went away without paying for the new hat. Andy, who said the intention was to pay for the new hat upon returning to secure the old one, but was arrested while hiding in a doorway, was fined $10 and costs or 20 days, while his brother was fined $25 and costs or 60 days.

ALL THE COMFORTS OF LIFE ARE FOUND IN SPRING ALLEY

Twenty-seven men, 10 kegs of beer and a suitable proportion of whisky was the offering made by 2324 Spring alley to the Penn avenue police station early yesterday morning. The police left 40 empty kegs behind, having no use for dead ones. Magistrate Kane fined John Mehalkar, who keeps the house, $50 and costs, while each of the 26 visitors paid $10 and costs.

Lively Time in a Shanty Boat.

Henry Ruhlandt, John Alexander, Annie McGill and Mary Ann Powell were arrested early yesterday morning in a shanty boat at the foot of South Twenty-third street. The police say they were drinking and fighting. This was at 3:30. At 9:30 the quartet was in jail, serving a 30-day sentence.

Pursuit Is Expensive.

For chasing little girls in the neighborhood of Washington and Maple avenues, South side, P. W. Littell was fined $10 and costs, with the alternative of 60 days to the workhouse, yesterday.

John Tries to Butt-in.

John Szakacs of South Twenty-seventh street for attempting to sit in a street car between a young woman and her escort, and then swearing because they objected, was fined $25 and costs, with the alternative of 60 days, yesterday.

MUM'S THE WORD AT CONSERVATORY

Supt. Burke Is Considering the October Display of Famous Japanese Flower.

CROWDS AT TRACTION PARKS

So few persons went to Schenley park yesterday, the bad weather holding them back, that Park Supt. George W. Burke found nothing more seasonable to discuss than the chrysanthemum show of next October. Mr. Burke, Director Bigelow and John Jones, the head gardener at the Phipps' conservatory, intend to get together some day to decide on the date for the "mum" display, but the flowers themselves will have something to say, as they may be either backward or forward in blooming, according to the weather. There will be 20,000 chrysanthemum plants, many of them new varieties. They are now in the propagating houses.

The architectural club having withdrawn its drawings from the Carnegie art gallery, the ninth annual display of paintings opened yesterday. The 13 new pictures, recently described in The Gazette, attracted much attention. A big crowd viewed the pictures, but few of them ventured farther into Schenley park.

The visitors to the zoological garden in Highland park were few. The zoo buildings are about the only shelter there, beside the restaurant, and the people were chary about taking the chances of a wetting by the rain.

Good crowds attended all the trolley parks. Rocereto's band at Kennywood was thoroughly appreciated. There will be concerts every afternoon and evening this week. The circle swing, the only one of its kind in this part of the country, is proving a popular form of amusement, and the big scenic railway attracts a large patronage. The roller-skating pavilion is daily adding to its clientele. The free act, Speedy, the high diver, is one of the most sensational turns yet seen at the park. He weighs over 200 pounds and dives headlong from the top of a 125-foot ladder into a tank containing three feet of water, and only 8x16 feet.

As a special attraction at Calhoun, Bryant and Saville's minstrel company gave a minstrel first part during the second section of the afternoon and evening programs. The concerts were given by Danhardt's Second Brigade band.

At Southern park the Carnegie Concert band, directed by W. J. Hartz, played two popular programs. Miss Clarice Templeton, balladist, sang several illustrated songs. W. H. McIntosh, female impersonator, was also on the bill.

Prof. Guenther, who leaves for a tour of Europe this week, played his farewell concerts at Oakwood yesterday. The Greater Pittsburgh band, which he directs gave a program of tuneful airs. The Lindsay quartet and Horace Meltzer, polyphonic artist, added materially to the entertainment.

Oakwood park theater will open this evening with Bryant and Saville's minstrels. At Southern park theater a vaudeville show, headed by John B. Lawlor and daughters, in a refined singing and musical act, will be the attraction. Stieren's cineograph, the sensational moving picture machine, will close the evening performances at both parks.

LABOR COUNCIL TO MEET.

President Gompers and Other Federation Officials in Scranton—Will Aid President Mitchell.

SCRANTON, June 11.—President Samuel Gompers and the other members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor are in this city to enter tomorrow upon the annual session of the council. They will also, incidentally, assist President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, in his task of strengthening his organization in the anthracite region.

Nothing has been given out as yet as to any particular business that will come before the council. Today the federation officers were taken for an automobile ride to Lake Scranton by the entertainment committee of the Central Labor Union. Various other forms of entertainment have been planned to make the officials' visit a pleasant one.

Reformed Classis Will Meet.

A special meeting of the Allegheny classis of the Reformed church will be held in Grace church, Dithridge and Bayard streets this evening, to receive the Revs. Dr. J. J. Leberman from the Ohio classis, and John H. Deitrick, a recent graduate from the Lancaster seminary. Dr. Lebegman has accepted a call to St. Luke's church, Braddock, and the Rev. Mr. Deitrick will take the pulpit of St. Mark's church, East End. Arrangements will be made for installing these clergymen.

Drowned While Wading in Creek.

ROCHESTER, PA., June 11.—(Special.)—While wading through Raccoon creek, near Rochester, early this morning, James H. Soles stepped into a deep hole in the bed of the creek and sinking beneath the surface of the water, never rose again. He was a locomotive engineer for the American Bridge Company at Ambridge and left a wife and four children.

Each Blames the Other.

Peter Kosochoski and his wife of 1311 Breed street, have been having trouble. The wife says Peter has not worked for two months, getting necessary exercise by beating her. Peter declares that his wife is also to blame, but he was fined $25 and costs or 20 days to the workhouse.

AFTER THE MEET.

P.B.Co. SPECIAL

After exercise of any kind, there's nothing so refreshing as a bottle of P. B. Co. Special. So soothing to tired nerves and strengthening to hard-worked muscles. The Bohemian hops make P. B. Co. Special a little "rest-cure" in itself—while the pure barley malt acts as a flesh-maker and tonic. Everybody would be better for a judicious use of this appetite-inducing, pure, tempting, delicious and satisfying beer.

In pint bottles—at all bars and cafes. Bottled only at the Brewery—order a case from your dealer.

SAYS SUICIDES WILL GO TO HELL

The Rev. D. A. Greene Contends Self-Murder Is Crime Against God and Scripture.

THE INCREASE IS ALARMING

"I cannot see any escape from hell for the person, who in sound mind, commits suicide. Their last act excludes them from heaven and classes them with liars and idolators. This is one of the assertions in the closing verses of Revelations," declared the Rev. D. A. Greene in the Manchester Presbyterian church, Allegheny, yesterday morning, during his sermon on "Suicide—the Modern Crime." He spoke from the texts: Ex. xx:13, "Thou shalt not kill" and Matt. xxvii:5, "Judas went away and hanged himself."

The pastor held that suicide was alarmingly on the increase, and declared that while the scriptures forbid killing, war for just cause was countenanced. He said in part:

The law student finds a beautiful symmetry and a surprising comprehensiveness in the Decalogue. As God is its author, we would expect Him to provide for His own honor and glory. Enactments to this end occur in the first division of the 10 commandments. The first forbids worship of any other diety; the second excludes images, and the third forbids profanity, while the fourth sets aside a day for special honor to God. The fifth heads the second division, beginning with the chief duty of honoring our parents. The sixth forbids the taking of human life. Notice that when an act is forbidden, its opposite is enjoyed. The sixth commandment applies only to human life. Permission is granted to kill and eat. It allows defense of property in Ex. xxii:2. It does not condemn war for just cause. John the Baptist did not forbid the soldiers to fight. Our Lord did not censure the centurion.

This command does condemn everything that naturally leads to unlawful life taking. Envy and jealousy may lead to malice and malice to murder. Anger may become rancour. Holiness cannot dwell in the heart which harbors envy, anger and rancour. Passing from the crime of murder, I wish to speak with the same earnestness on the kindred crime of self-murder.

This is surely one of the most awful crimes of our day. Then its frightful frequency! Nearly every daily paper brings to our notice at least one suicide. To test this I picked up a paper at random and read of one suicide and one suspected suicide. I took up an old paper and read of two suicides just outside of our city. Our health bureau informed me that there were 29 in Allegheny, according to the last monthly report. I suspect the number in Pittsburgh is greater. Many suicides are never found and others are attributed to other causes.

A chief cause for suicide is liquor. Sometimes it is drugs, opium or morphine. Often it is the use of cigarettes. Financial trouble is another cause. People allow themselves to become too much wrought up by affairs of life. When something unusual happens their nervous systems cannot bear the strain and the awful crime of suicide is committed. Some claim that insanity is the usual cause, and while some insane people do kill themselves, the excuse is usually a charitable veil.

Rome did humanity a great wrong when he defended suicide. The act is cowardly, criminal, cursed. Saul, a man of violent temper, who attempted murder, was a suicide. These two crimes often go together. Ahithophel was a politician, crafty but traitorous, and took his own life. The Judas, after betraying his master, went and hanged himself.

Life is a sacred trust. Only its giver should summon the soul into eternity. We owe it to our family and friends not to bring the shame and reproach of self-murder upon them. A positive law forbids it. A fearful example of sinful living warns against it—"Judas went away and hanged himself."

CLASS A CONTRIBUTORS TO THE SUNDAY GAZETTE

Ever Onward and Upward Idea Being Firmly Adhered to In Making Great Paper.

Leaving the news features entirely out of the question, could you imagine a newspaper that comes more nearly meeting the wants of a reading public than The Gazette of yesterday? A week ago we took occasion to remark that such number would, if it is possible to make it so, be an improvement over its predecessor. This week's number will plainly show that the "ever onward and upward" idea is not an idle jest insofar as the Sunday Gazette is concerned. Yesterday's Gazette has contributions from the pens of those who write only for leading journals. That which was secured yesterday for the price at which The Gazette sells seems very much like getting silk at gingham figures, but it is proposed not only to keep the bargain counter open, but to offer still greater literary values from week to week. Elbert Hubbard, John Kendrick Bangs, Secretary Wilson and Col. A. K. McClure are but a few of those who are writing now for the Sunday Gazette, and their contributions will be regular features. The Home Journal section contained new and pleasing hints for women readers, while Buster Brown, Sammy Sneeze, Foxy Grandpa and the rest of the comedians were in rare form.

In the realm of news nothing was forgotten. Russia and Japan agreed to name plenipotentiaries to treat of peace terms, and they will meet in Washington. Yankee diplomacy in the direction of peace fairly took France off her feet. A Norwegian cabinet officer said that Great Britain is expected to prevent encroachment by a foreign power.

Frank G. Bigelow, the defaulting bank president of Milwaukee, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan. The majority stock of James H. Hyde in the Equitable Life Assurance society was transferred to a syndicate and the purchase price paid over; Grover Cleveland, George Westinghouse and Judge O'Brien accepted the trusteeship and Paul Morton announced his intention to look to the interests of the policy-holders. The teamsters' strike has settled into a mere question of endurance, and the employers declared they will make no further overtures. The supposedly hostile fleet commanded by Admiral Dickens, U. S. N., will begin its sham attack on the defenses of Washington and Baltimore tonight. Two magistrates and other employes were removed by Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia and an independent county and state ticket is planned. An automobile plunged through a drawbridge into the Chicago river and three persons were drowned. The Voight-Heyl will contest, involving an estate valued at $60,000,000 was started in Philadelphia. Robert W. Herbert was one of the candidates for county commissioner chosen in the Democratic primaries in Westmoreland county.

The Democrats hope to defeat the election of a Republican state treasurer by the indorsement of Judge Stewart. The convention of steam fitters was ended after the transaction of important business. Surveys have been made by the Pennsylvania railroad for building needed lines into Greene county. Courts changed the rules with reference to the sheriff's acknowledgements to comply with the act of assembly. Allegheny police officers who were acquitted of graft charges paid the costs and were discharged. New American war vessels will call for 23,000 more seamen. Director Bigelow said H. C. Frick should spend money to win Bryan election.

The Giants and Pirates broke even on the series, the New Yorkers winning Saturday's game 5 to 0. Fight expert Naughton says Young Corbett was entitled to a draw in his recent encounter with Hanlon. President Dreyfuss refused to shake hands with President Bush of the New York Nationals. Hans Wagner is now the leading National league batsman. Bob Fitzsimmons wants one more fight with Jim Corbett. Yale beat Princeton 3 to 2 and the series is now a tie. Catcher Daily was elected captain of the Shadyside team for next year.

New York stock market was active and strong, closing at the highest prices of the day. Weekly bank statement was favorable, showing a decrease in loans and an increase in surplus reserve. Local securities were firmer and wheat was stronger.

TO SUSPEND SERVICES.

Auditorium of First Presbyterian Church to Remain Closed Two Months.

Announcement was made in the First Presbyterian church, Sixth avenue, yesterday afternoon, that the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, will sail for Europe on June 29 to remain abroad two months. During July and August the church auditorium will remain closed in order to make preparations for the installation of a new $25,000 pipe organ. A similar instrument, which was to have been installed previous to the church dedication, was burned just as it stood ready for shipment.

During July the associate pastor, the Rev. George J. Russell, will preach in the chapel each Sunday morning, while the probabilities are that no services will be held during the month of August.

COTTON MANUFACTURERS FEAR CHINESE BOYCOTT

Representatives of Textile Industry Will Make Protest to President.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 11.—President Roosevelt will receive at noon tomorrow a delegation of members of the American Asiatic association, representing the cotton textile industry, which will make a vigorous protest against the present interpretation og the Chinese exclusion law which has caused the commercial guilds throughout the Celestial kingdom to threaten a boycott after August of all American schools, business, goods, products and ships.

For 10 months ending May 1, 1905, the exports of cotton cloths to China were valued at $21,125,855, with a responsible prospect that the fiscal year, ending July 1, 1905, would show a volume og export trade worth $27,000,000. This is the greatest trade in cotton goods ever carried on between America and China. It represents probably 10 per cent of the total value of American cotton production. If the boycott becomes effective the cotton manufacturers fear that the necessity of selling 10 per cent of the total production in markets already well supplied will create cut-throat competition which will demoralize the industry.

The whole trouble grows not from the American policy of excluding Chinese laborers, but from the stringency of definition given by the immigration officials to the so-called exempt classes constituted by merchants, students, officials and travelers.

Several Fish in One Haul.

There was something doing at 711 Webster avenue late Saturday night. Daniel and Mary Donahoe, who live on the third floor, attracted the police by fighting. Then it was discovered that Henrietta English, who lives in the same house, was receiving callers at an unseemly hour. Daniel and the two women were fined $5 each, while six men found in the English apartments paid $1 and costs apiece.

FACTORS IN WALL STREET COME LATE IN THE WEEK

Influences of Peace Proposals and the Equitable Settlement Are Not Fully Developed at Close of Market.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 11.—Wall street's business week was fruitful of momentous developments, the most spectacular of which came to a head so late in the interval as to leave practically no time in which to determine their full import as a market influence. No doubt the appointment of plenipotentiaries by Japan and Russia to treat upon the terms of peace and the initial steps taken to eliminate the Equitable Life Assurance scandal as a disturbing element are matters of great importance, but both were deferred in their announcement until Saturday in consequence of which the measure of their influence will be taken during the present week, as no sufficient opportunity was presented to gauge their importance during Saturday's brief session.

In this respect it is noted that the observance of Whit Monday as a holiday by the London stock exchange and by many of the continental bourses will leave the New York market in a peculiarly interesting position. It will be one of the few primary markets of the world and possibly, in the nature of things, the most important of any left open, in which financiers may determine the effects of a definite move for Russo-Japanese peace upon securities. However, New York may not furnish the conclusive test in consequence of the other influencing factor in the local market growing out of the purchase of the Equitable Life Assurance society by Mr. Ryan and his associates. Business men, financiers and policy-holders have had a day of rest to think over this latter transaction, and may have discovered in it some things to modify earlier enthusiasm.

It is clear that the spectacular developments of the last week are practically void of influence on the market, unless the earlier uncertainty as to their outcome in contributing to the dullness and hesitancy of securities during the interval be considered as a factor. As to the Russo-Japanese peace negotiations, they were known to be progressing favorably, but without much effect, except upon the securities of the belligerent countries abroad, and with practically no influence whatever upon any securities in this market. Such favorable features of the interval as the marked improvement in weather conditions in the agricultural districts were entirely ignored, except in the staple commodity markets, as a result of the disturbing factors existing elsewhere.

Unquestionably the news developments of the past week, taken in their entirety, favor the constructive side of the market. Whatever criticisms may be made of the methods employed in adjusting the Equitable Life disturbance and granted that the sale of the company by an individual to an unnamed syndicate, headed by Mr. Ryan, is not an ideal solution, the financial and business community has been afforded a breathing spell. A great stride in the right direction has been made in breaking the deadlock in the company and in obtaining the resignations of the officials who misused the great society for individual gain. The change in the ownership of the society and all the other developments came with such bewildering rapidity that it is not only difficult for the community to obtain a proper perspective of the events, but it is probably impossible for the new owners of the institution to fully determine and announce all their plans for the future control.

Of course the state superintendent of insurance will investigate the sale of the society to the syndicate, and it will be necessary, if confidence is to be fully restored, to determine the names of all persons associated with the syndicate, the price they paid for Mr. Hyde's shares and the terms of the indenture or trust deed under which the voting trustees will in future select the directors. A thorough investigation of the transaction will not in any way cast reflection upon Mr. Ryan and associates or upon the admirably selected board of voting trustees, former President Cleveland, Morgan J. O'Brien and George Westinghouse.

To safeguard the future, every detail of the operation and the identity of everyone associated with it must be made public. This is necessary, not only because 600,000 policy-holders are interested, but because the sale is not alone a sale of stock, but the sale of the society's control, with a contingent interest in its vast treasury of $400,000,000 of assets and a surplus of $80,000,000, together with great powers and potentialities for good or evil.

But the new owners of the Equitable society, all men of wide experience in corporate affairs, took the earliest opportunity to announce their determination of divesting themselves of the power to select directors. This augurs well for the future. Upon this disposition of the new owners of the society is predicted the confident belief that they will cheerfully disclose all the details of the transaction, including their identity, the price paid for the controlling interest and the plans devised for the perpetuation of the company and the prevention of any recurrence of the old disgraceful order of things. All this is essential, for in the nature of things future directors under the voting trust, like the old "under individual ownership," will be "dummies," and though there is less reproach to a "dummy director" selected by a committee of three prominent men than to one selected by an individual, the policyholders and the public have the right to know to whom primarily the incumbent owes allegiance.

In the Oil Fields

When the fields of the southwest, lower southwest and southeastern Ohio were last reviewed it was stated that the developments of the new pool west of Butler for the coming week and now closed would be of the greatest importance, touching probable extensions of the producing area of the most sensational development that has transpired in the eastern fields for several years. The new wells arrived on schedule time and much more is known of the status of the territory in several directions from the original gusher. To the southwest it is thought useless to look for an extension, as evidenced by the Independent Gas Company's test on the Reiber farm. This test is about 2,000 feet removed from the McBride gusher, now owned by the Southern Oil Company, and of very light, in fact, so light as to be almost a candidate for the duster list.

About 900 feet due south of the gusher Eisler & O'Brien completed their test on the Hartung farm and secured a very light producer. With the completion of these two wells the chances for a south and southwest extension for the distance named are quite slender. The southwest line was held in high favor until the Independent Gas Company completed its test.

What this test did in defining the southwest limits was accomplished by the Associated Producers Company's test on the west side in fixing the producing limits in that direction from the big well. About 500 feet west and a little north of the Hartung test the Associated Producers completed its test on the Barrickman farm and a very light pumper is the result and shows conclusively that the producing formation does not extend for any appreciable distance to the west. The Producers company place great faith in a western extension and when the demand for leases was at its height, soon after the Eisler gusher came in, put down $11,000 in bonus money to secure a lease on 40 acres of the Barrickman farm. The east side is undefined and unless the producing lines can be advanced a greater distance in that direction, the belt will prove to be very narrow, possibly not exceeding 400 or 500 feet wide.

The T. W. Phillips Oil and Gas Company's test on the Barrickman 10-acre lease has been a rather erratic producer. It is located 400 feet southwest of the McBride and when agitated flowed at the rate of about 14 barrels an hour. It is quite evident that the long pull the McBride well has had got some of its production and relieved the pressure from the Phillips well.

With the completion of the wells named and the resultant effect in their respective directions from the gusher, interest at once shifted to the northeast and was centered in the Southern Oil Company's test on the 30-acre lease of the O. K. Waldron farm and for which a bonus of $4,500 had been paid. This test was drilled to the top of the sand Thursday night and when it began to gas freely drilling was suspended to move back the boiler, and it was drilled in Friday morning. When a few feet in the sand the pay was tapped and the well began to flow at the rate of 45 barrels an hour. By some the flow was estimated higher, but it is proved by even the lower estimate that the true course of the producing formation was northeast from the original well and the producing sand contained a rich deposit for at least a distance of 700 feet in that direction from the McBride gusher. The day following it was drilled a little deeper and the production increased for a time, but by Saturday evening it was back to 40 barrels an hour.

Shortly after the new gusher came in the old one stopped flowing and the impression prevailed for a time that this had been occasioned by the incoming of the new. However, it was later learned that salt water from the 1,100-foot level forced into the old defective packer or a leak in the casing and was holding back the production. With the trouble remedied it was confidentially expected that the well would again start to flowing. The new gusher has established contiguous in a northeast extension and in that direction active operations are expected. A considerable distance in advance of developments to the south and southwest there are tests drilling that look to be outside of the producing area. Some 400 feet southwest of the Southern Oil Company's (McBride) gusher the same company is due in the sand at a test on a part of the Hartung farm and should get a fair production. The location is on a fairly good range with the two Waldron farm gushers, on a northeast and southwest line.

With the establishment of a northeast extension operators are making a play for leases in advance and are not holding to any particular distance from the present producers. If one is to judge by the leases taken, a five-mile limit is not bad, and the end of Butler county will be the center of attraction for some time to come. In the opinion of some who are rather disposed to take a pessimistic view of the future of the pool, the production will not in the future go above the highest daily production of the McBride gusher, or not to exceed 2,000 barrels.

The lower southwest fields presented but two wells calling for special mention. Both are located in the 30-foot development, west of Mannington, Marion county. The Delmar Oil Company drilled in its No. 6 on the S. L. and A. Y. Hall farm and secured a producer that has a production of 200 barrels. The result at this location was minimized by the No. 15 on the same farm coming in a duster in the 30-foot.

The Freehold Oil and Gas Company drilled in its No. 3 on the Benjamin Grubb farm and secured a producer that placed 250 barrels to its credit the first 24 hours. The success at this point was especially gratifying for the reason that No. 2 came in so light as to barely escape the duster aggregation.

In all of the other West Virginia fields nothing better than light producers were drilled in or completed. Calhoun county has for a long time been prominent with completions, but had an off week and completed but three small wells. In the shallow sand districts there is noticeable increase in development work, but the most of it is located inside of the old defined pools.

Development work on the Ohio side was without incident. The only development about which there is any doubt or speculation as to its future is located north of Steubenville on Wells creek, Jefferson county. The three wells on the W. P. Buck farm are producing 190 barrels a day, and it is thought that more good producers can be found in the vicinity. There is a little experimental work starting in the pool and Castner Bros. are due in the sand at their No. 4 on the Buck farm.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK IN THE LOCAL MARKET

The week just ended was somewhat remarkable for the general firmness in nearly all lines of the local markets. There were no important changes noted in any of the several products which are bought and sold in Pittsburgh.

The situation is not a particularly pleasing one, however, as dealers say business was not nearly so brisk as they had reason to hope it would be by this time. The season has not been a particularly good one for the produce and commission merchants. Now the farmer is beginning to have his innings and field grown green stuff is finding its way into market. Two more weeks will see an abundance of home grown stuff being hauled into the local markets, and the dealer who pays a high rent will have to compete with the man who raises his own stuff and markets it from his wagon.

The market stalls were enriched last week by the appearance of blackberries, home-grown cherries and strawberries, an abundance of peaches, apricots, plums and other summer fruits. At the same time the nearby points began shipping in green stuff and there is a better quality of goods and a more abundant supply to be had now than at any time for some months.

Cheese wound up the week a little firmer than it had been, and butter was much weaker. A drop of a half-cent on butter is looked for today. Eggs are firm but a break is due and it will be but another week or two that the present high prices will prevail. There are all kinds of eggs in market, from the strictly fresh to the somewhat overripe product, or rather musty eggs which have lain too long at gathering points.

Groceries held firm all week, flour refusing to follow wheat on the down track. A general break is looked for in flour this week. Sugar and coffee are both firm.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts Saturday were: Pennsylvania lines, 24 cars hay, 18 cars oats, 3 cars corn, 1 car feed; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 5 cars hay, 1 car oats, 1 car corn; Baltimore & Ohio, 2 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 1 car straw, 1 car corn.

The week was steady on hay and grain, while dealers are unable to realize any profit on their western purchases. They have hopes, however, that their time is soon coming. Hay is dull, especially the lower grades. Strictly No. 1 brings top prices, but after that the buyer makes the price.

PLUNGE INTO WATER.

Two Yale Students Make a Swimming Wager and Are Picked Up by the Police.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., June 11.—(Special.)—To win a wager two Yale students who give fictitious names plunged into the shoot-the-chutes today at a seashore resort fully clad except for lying aside hats and coats. The men were apprehended by a policeman to whom they said they were John Haywood of Ishpeming Mich., and Harry Stevenson of New York. As nobody would press a complaint they were allowed to leave.

There were several men and women in the party which made the round of the attractions. A friendly dispute arose at the edge of the tank and a wager resulted. In an instant there was a splash and then another, creating much excitement. Haywood, so called, won the swimming race to the other side and was helped out by the policeman and assisted the latter in pulling out his competitor.

Will Debate Important Questions.

In McKeesport councils this evening an effort will be made to have the matter of issuing bonds in the sum of $310,000 for the various improvements sanctioned by the members of select and common councils. If the resolution is adopted the question will be put before the voters. The issue is to provide a filtration plant, city hall, sewers and poor farm. Similar measures were killed last year by the vote of eight members of select council. The filtration question is likely to mesh with the approval of the tax-payers, as citizens have been clamoring for better water.

Pastors' Wives to Read Papers.

An innovation will be introduced at the weekly meeting of United Presbyterian ministers in the Third church, Diamond street, this morning. Clergymen will listen to papers on various subjects read by their wives. Following the meeting a banquet will be held in the Seventh avenue hotel.

WHEAT IS STRONGER ON KANSAS REPORT

Condition of Winter Variety in Sunflower State Is Said to Show Decline of 18 Points.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 10.—The Kansas report, showing a decline of 18 points in condition of winter wheat since April 1, caused firmness in the wheat market here today. At the close July wheat was up ⅝c. Corn also is up ⅝c. Oats and provisions are practically unchanged.

Sentiment in the wheat pit during the greater part of the day was quite bullish. The opening was strong, with July up ⅛@⅛c to ⅝@⅝c at 86⅝@86¾c. Almost the sole topic among traders before business began was the Kansas report. According to statistics the condition of the wheat crop of Kansas on June 1 was 77 per cent, compared with 95 per cent on April 1, no report being issued in May. The loss of 18 points was said to have been caused by high winds and by drought. In view of the forthcoming report by government officials the showing of the Kansas report created considerable apprehension among traders and demand for a time was quite brisk. On light offerings July touched 87c. Later the market experienced a sudden slump on selling brought out by a report of a Chicago crop expert. This authority stated that during the past 10 days or since the time statistics for the government report were collected, weather conditions had been the most favorable of the season for the development of the wheat crop and that the official figures would be too conservative. Before the market recovered from this setback July had declined to 86¼@86⅜c. The Kentucky report was an additional bearish influence. Buying by shorts caused a quick recovery, and during the last hour of trading the market had a fine undertone. Final quotations on July were at 86⅝@86¾c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 63,900 bushels. Primary receipts were 247,800 bushels, compared with 288,800 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 192 cars, against 269 cars last week and 210 cars a year ago.

An unusually heavy rainfall throughout the corn belt created bullish sentiment in the corn belt. The volume of business was large, commission houses being liberal purchasers. A prominent trader was the principal seller. July opened ⅜c to ½@⅝c higher at 51¾@51⅞c, sold between 51¾c and 51⅞c, and closed at 51⅝c. Local receipts were 367 cars, with 112 of contract grade.

Strength of other grain gave a firm undertone to the oats market of setting the effect of excellent crop reports. Trading was dull. July opened a shade to ⅛c higher at 31¾@31⅞c, sold between 31¾c and 31½c, and closed at 31⅜@31⅝c. Local receipts were 212 cars.

PASTOR SERVES IN JURY BOX

The Rev. Dr. J. T. McCrory Tells of the Lessons He Learned in Criminal Court.

HOLDS SALOON RESPONSIBLE

The Rev. Dr. J. T. McCrory, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, who served on the criminal court jury last week and who will continue those duties this week, preached from his pulpit yesterday morning on "Some Lessons Learned on the Criminal Court Jury." He took for his texts, Proverbs, XIII:15, "The way of transgressors is hard," and citing religious lessons to be learned from scenes in a criminal court room, said in part:

One does not need the experiences of a criminal court to persuade him of the truth of this text. We talk about the difficulties of the way of salvation, and, in a certain sense, there are difficulties connected with it, but as compared with the way that leads to destruction, the path of virtue is strewn with roses and carpeted with velvet. If you want to find bleeding feet and rough going, just look down the broad way that leads to death. There is a "rocky road" to be sure. And this is the whole impression of jury service in the criminal court. There are many lessons that impress themselves on the mind in such a court.

One is impressed with the seriousness, fairness and patience of the court in the prosecution of criminal cases. One is compelled to recognize the fact that a court is a solemn tribunal. Indeed, one feels that many a religious court and Lord's day service is put to shame by the deep solemnity of a criminal court. There is a dignity manifest from the bench to the humblest official and a quiet and decorum insisted on that has in it great moral force and significance. The worst of criminals and the poorest of wrecks of humanity are treated with consideration, and there is nothing unfeeling in the sentencing of a criminal. It is almost a tragedy to hear the court pronounce the doom of a guilty person that sends him to prison for a year or a series of years. One cannot but wonder what will be the awful solemnity of the great judgment day, when the Eternal Judge shall determine the final doom and pronounce the fearful sentence that will send the sinner off into everlasting punishment.

The evident relation between the criminal classes and defective home training is emphasized in the criminal court. When one sees a father appear as the leading witness against his own son and have him convicted and sent to the workhouse for the theft of a suit of clothes from his father, one cannot but feel that the father has first robbed his child of that which every father owes to the child he brings into this sad world—moral and religious instruction and training and a godly example that will fortify the young man against temptation. One can easily see that lack of self-control, want of respect for authority, undeveloped moral conviction, with ignorance as to the claims of God and righteousness, is at the bottom of three-fourths of the crime arraigned at the criminal bar.

It is scarcely necessary to call attention to the connection which is so evident between crime and the saloon. There was a murder trial and drink was in it. There were thefts, "holdups," burglaries, assaults, all descriptions and of nameless vileness and infamy, but the saloon was in them, every one. The only case in which the jury felt such righteous indignation that it requested the court to allow the verdict to be given from the box without retiring was where a monster offered as his excuse for a crime against a five-year-old Polish girl the fact that he had spent several hours in a saloon. One could not but feel that the criminal as well as the saloon that incited the crime deserved eternal reprobation. And yet the state will imprison the criminal and continue to sanction the saloon which incites to such crimes. This is an almost unaccountable madness and folly on the part of the state. To legalize the traffic in that which is of absolutely no benefit to any, but which is the chief producer of crime, is itself a crime for which the whole country must yet pay the penalty.

The criminal court puts emphasis on the need of the evangelization of the masses of the ignorant and irreligious among us. Where one sees the dregs of poor negroes and of the more ignorant classes of our foreign population who figure in this court, he is impressed with the supreme demand laid on the churches of the country for the evangelization of these defective classes for the sake of the country, as well as for the souls of these lost men and women. The criminal court is the most pathetic and startling call to the church of Christ for a tremendous effort to bring the gospel to these multitudes among us who are untaught and untouched by the power of the gospel. Our country, as well as our Christ, demands that we evangelize them for the sake of their souls and our civilization.

You may think when you are in your churches or mingling with the clean-lived, respectable classes that a very little change is needed to make this world all that it needs to be, to fit it for the return of the Son of Man. But when one sees what is in the heart of man as it expresses itself through the conduct when restraints are removed or inducements are strong, he is appalled at the real power of sin. And he knows that multitudes of the respectable are no better at heart than these wicked and vile ones whose crimes make him blush for shame and shudder with apprehension. Ah! men and women, this world must be made new or it can never look into the face of God. One can say, like John Howard of old, as he sees some poor broken wretch getting his sentence from the judge on the bench—"But for the grace of God, there stands myself."

Postpone the Meeting.

The Catholic Truth society was to meet yesterday afternoon in the Epiphany parish school house, but the meeting was not held, as the building was crowded with children, who were to receive the sacrament of confirmation. It was the intention to prepare a program for the season beginning in September, but the spiritual director, Father H. C. Boyle, aided by officers of the society, will arrange the program. The next meeting will be held in September.

Observe Whitsunday.

Whitsunday, or Pentecost, commemorative of the founding of the Christian church, was obsedved by congregatons of all denominations yesterday, while especially appropriate services were conducted in churches of the Roman Catholic, Protestant Episcopal and Lutheran faith. Confirmations were the features of the services in Catholic churches; holy communion and vespers in the Episcopal churches, and special sermons and vespers in the Lutheran churches.

WANTS TO WEAR MAN'S ATTIRE TO EARN LIVING FOR CHILDREN

Handicapped by woman's skirts and by man's low appreciation of the value of woman's labor, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Aschbacher, aged 28, a deserted wife, must struggle along to make a living for herself and her children. Mrs. Aschbacher was arrested in Allegheny Saturday night for masquerading in men's clothing. At the hearing before Magistrate Abernathey yesterday morning she did not deny her guilt, as she was still wearing the evidence. She pleaded for mercy, however, and asked the magistrate to discharge her. Mrs. Aschbacher said she disguised herself as a man in order to secure a job with Max Arnold, the Evergreen dairyman. She wanted to earn money for herself and her deserted children. She could do diary work better than anything else, and by masquerading as a man she could earn higher wages than if she appeared in her proper person as a woman. The magistrate discharged Mrs. Aschbacher, but warned her to wear only women's clothes in the future. This she promised with great reluctance.

MANY BOYS AND GIRLS PROFESS THEIR FAITH

Bishop Canevin Confirms 300 Children in the Church of the Epiphany. Whitsunday Ceremonies.

Three hundred boys and girls, members of the Epiphany Catholic church, were confirmed yesterday by Bishop Canevin. In the Epiphany parish, which includes many members who will attend the new cathedral when it is finished, confirmation is held every year, and yesterday's class of 300 is considered a large number.

The confirmation was administered in the afternoon. The children, the girls dressed in white, marched in procession from the school house to the church, preceded by the master of ceremonies, Father Miles M. Sweeney, and 12 torch-boys, bearing lighted candles.

The children took their turn at the sanctuary rail, where the bishop administered confirmation. Each boy and girl held a card, and that card was handed to one of the bishop's assistants, who read the name aloud, and the bishop repeated the name as he administered the sacrament. His assistants were Chancellor Kittell, and Fathers O'Connell, Boyle and Sweeney. After the 300 children had been confirmed in the faith Bishop Canevin preached a sermon, explaining that confirmation was the sacrament intended to help the recipients to be strong and earnest Christians. Pontifical benediction was given by Bishop Canevin, with Father O'Connell as deacon, Father Boyle as sub-deacon and Father Sweeney as master of ceremonies.

Yesterday being Whitsunday, or Pentecost, the third greatest feast of the year, Bishop Canevin celebrated pontifical high mass. Father Kittell was the assistant priest, Father O'Connell deacon, Father Boyle sub-deacon and Father Sweeney master of ceremonies.

LAY CORNER STONE.

Special Services Are Held by St. Peter's German Lutheran Congregation.

The corner-stone of St. Peter's German Evangelical Lutheran church, School street, Spring Garden borough, was dedicated yesterday afternoon. The Rev. A. E. Viehe, pastor of the church, presided, and was assisted by the Revs. G. A. Kienle of Sharpsburg, and C. Loos of Millvale.

A box was placed in the corner-stone containing church papers and relics taken from the corner-stone of the old church, which was burned on January 15, and the history of the church and the synod.

SPIRITUAL FAINTING FITS ARE DESCRIBED

The Rev. Dr. B. F. Woodburn Believes the Spirit as Susceptible as the Flesh.

"Spiritual Fainting Fits" was the theme of the sermon of the Rev. Dr. B. F. Woodburn in the Sandusky Street Baptist church, Allegheny, yesterday morning. Dr. Woodburn spoke from the text: Psalm xlii:5, "Why art thou cast down, Oh my soul? Why art thou disquieted in me? Hope thou in God," and admitting that the soul at times became depressed, said in part:

This ancient man of God was suffering from extreme spiritual depression. He regarded himself as a double personality and reasons with himself that this depression of his soul was without sufficient warrant.

I use the term spiritual, not in the narrow sense of an emotional state, but as representing the higher nature in man. It defines the gulf that separates him from the lower order of animal life. On him rests the doom of progress and of moral responsibility. Owing to his higher endowments he is subject to anxiety, depression and unrest.

I have named the seasons of depression which men experience, as fainting fits. The greatest of our race are subject to them. Elijah, alone in the desert; Job, in his afflictions and Jeremiah, in despair, have yielded to despondency.

Fainting, as a physical event, results from low physical condition; from impoverished blood, or imperfect circulation. The system needs toning up. Spiritual fainting-fits are revealed often in complaint, fault-finding and discouragement. Since the soul is in a material body they arise from our physical condition and the subject of them needs a physician more than a teacher. Bereavements, losses and disappointments may rob us of our spiritual poise and doubts may apparently threaten the bases of our faith.

Our age has been described recently by two contradictory phrases as "an age of doubt," and "an age of faith." The distinguished authors, who use these phrases differ because they occupy different points of view. As to the traditions of the past, it is an age of questioning and of doubt, but as to a belief in the unseen reality it is an age of faith. More interest is manifested in vital religion in our colleges, universities and the literature of today than ever before.

But, as in all marked transition periods, some are alarmed and many of our religious papers keep up this agitation by constantly erecting danger signals and warning the faithful against the trend of modern thought.

The great majority of Christians have no preparation to enter into questions of science and criticism. But happily for us, we have no practical need to settle such questions as to how God made the world, or how he made the Bible. These questions do not form a part of the basis of our faith.

It does not concern us as believers in Jesus and partakers of His spirit, for example, whether the book of Jonah is history, or allegory, or by whom and where the ancient books of the Bible were written, or how many ages were needful to the development of the world and the races of men and animals that inhabit it. We can leave these questions to the scholars and scientists while we live our life in fellowship with God and seek to know and do His will in the fellowship of His children. While we recover ourselves from depression and find poise and comfort in the thought that there is an ear to hear and a heart that beats in sympathy and a hand to help us in the conflict of life.

Wind Up With a Fight.

Alexander and Michael Kosanaw, Michael Morris and several friends wound up a pleasant evening by getting into a fight in the rear of 1509 Muriel street, South Side. Each of the three men captured paid $10 and costs yesterday.

W. U. P. GRADUATES HEAR SERMON BY CHANCELLOR

Rev. Dr. McCormick Delivers Baccalaureate Address in First Presbyterian Church.

Chancellor S. B. McCormick, D. D., preached the baccalaureate sermon yesterday morning in the First Presbyterian church, before the graduating classes in the collegiate, engineering and law departments of the Western University of Pennsylvania. He chose as his theme: "The Conquest of the Preventable," basing his sermon upon Galatians v:13-14, and said in part:

Most of the world's woe is traceable to man's incompetence or to his unrighteousness. Man's injustice to his fellow, his disregard of another's rights, his proneness to forget the welfare of his neighbor, his pride of opinion and his conscientiousness—these are among the things that cause heartbreak and despair. Poverty, too, causes woe, but the man has made himself poor, or his fellowman or society has done it for him. The responsibility is not with God, who created for man untold wealth and bestowed upon him the power to add to it enormously. The conclusion is irresistible that most of man's misery is due to himself.

Therefore, it has a remedy. If man did the wrong, man can also undo it. The great mission of the individual is to enter upon the conquest of the preventable. Two lines of endeavor give man his opportunity; namely, the conquest of the world forces by man and the conquest of man, with all his powers, by Jesus Christ.

Every man may, if he will, do something to put out of the world that which interferes with man's joy and to usher in the perfect kingdom of God. The magnitude of the task of remedying human wrong sometimes seems so great as to paralyze activity altogether. Yet each earnest-hearted, great-souled man may accomplish mighty things if he will. He can bring his prejudice to the bar of judgment and sentence it to death; can uncover his envy and smite it forever; can nail his selfishness to the cross till it dies; can stretch forth his hand and grip to his soul the truth that sets men free and make it a part of himself; and clear his own way as a factor in the social organism. He may live his life with conscious relation to his fellows. He can, as Mr. Jordan says, "Say each day as he rises new created to face a new life—today no one in the world shall suffer because I live."

Moreover, he can, if he will, let Jesus Christ possess him through and through with his spirit. Altruism from which Jesus, the Divine, is excluded, avails little. Sociology, divorced from Christianity, is powerless. Back of every human weakness, and hence back of every human woe, is human sin and spiritual alienation from God. Redemption is an eternal necessity; a power that will smite sin unto death; a propitiation for sin that reconciliation may be possible; a messenger that will show unto man the Father; a great and perfect example of holy and unselfish living—these must be, else man must wander in the desert and find himself helpless at every step of the way.

Man must use his power, his privileges, his freedom for the uplift of his brother. He is here for no other purpose. Panoplied for service as he may be, he becomes a mighty agent for ameliorating evil conditions and ushering in the perfect day of human joy and worth.

Dr. McCormick closed with a brief address to the graduating classes. The members of the classes occupied the front seats, the members of the faculty immediately behind, all in caps and gowns.
